HOTELMEN DETERMINED 10c BEER WILL STAY

VANCOUVER (CP)—Neither spiralling costs nor B.C.'s new legislation will change the 10-cent glass of beer.

This assurance was given Wednesday by J. E. Bengert, president of the B.C. Hotels' Association, now meeting in Vancouver, who told delegates that 10 cents a glass is a "fair and established price" for the working man's drink.

"While the industry is genuinely in need of some relief due to spiralling costs over many past years, hotelmen are firm in the belief that the 10-cent glass of beer should remain."

Red Concession Raises Hopes for Peace Talk

Communists Agree to Neutrals at Parley In Observer Role; PW Talks Called Off

From UP and AP Dispatches

PANMUNJOM—The Communists said today they want neutral countries seated at the Korean peace conference only as observers. United States envoy Arthur Dean said the proposal "could offer a very fruitful basis for further negotiations."

Dean indicated the North Korean and Chinese diplomats have made a "prepared concession" and now appear to be awaiting further instructions.

There were growing indications that a compromise may be reached on the thorny issue of inviting neutrals to the peace conference, biggest issue to be settled at the preliminary peace talks here.

Meanwhile, explanations to Korean and Chinese war prisoners who have refused to go home remained at a standstill and there were no signs the Reds would resume the interviews.

Quebec After Unions Which Tolerate Reds

QUEBEC CITY (UP)—The National Union government in the Speech from the Throne today took a slap at Communism in labor unions in one of its first bills. The measure gives the Labor Board the right to "refuse or revoke, as the case may be, any group of employees or employers which tolerates among its organizers or officers one or more persons adhering to the Communist doctrine or to a Communist party or movement."

WIRE BRIEFS

Red Charge Made

BOSTON (UP)—A surprise witness who identified himself as an FBI undercover agent said today a Communist cell with access to all secret military data exists at General Electric Co. plants in Lynn and Fitchburg, Mass.

Trieste Proposal

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Western Big Three have forwarded new proposals to Italy and Yugoslavia for a five-power conference to settle the hot dispute over the future of Trieste.

7 Fliers Rescued

PEARL HARBOR (AP)—All seven crew members from a United States navy Catalina flying boat which ditched in the Pacific Wednesday have been picked up from a life raft by the transport Daniel L. Sultan, the navy announced today. Navy officers said three of the men were injured, but none severely.

White Glowing Object Seen In English Sky

Tracked By Radar At 60,000 Feet

LONDON (AP)—A huge glowing object described as metallic has been tracked by radar high over England twice this month, the War Office disclosed Wednesday night.

Official reports of the sightings were made by members of two army radar crews who estimated the height of the object as 60,000 feet.

The first report came from Sgt. Harry Waller and three other witnesses who were making a test of a radar set for the 25th Heavy Anti-Aircraft Regiment in southeast London November 3.

The report said the object was kept in sight for 40 minutes. Then it moved out of range.

"There was a strong echo on the screen, so I looked through the telescope and there it was, just like a tennis ball," Waller told reporters. "It was dead white and completely circular. I couldn't see it with the naked eye."

"It couldn't have been a balloon. To get the kind of signal we got it must have been metallic. It must have been huge, because the signal was three or four times as large as that received from the biggest airliner."

A similar report was made Nov. 3 by FO T. S. Johnson and FO C. H. Smythe of the RAF. They were at 20,000 feet in a jet plane, they said, when the object passed far overhead at "tremendous speed."

An Air Ministry spokesman said every such report is investigated, "but we are not prepared to comment on individual reports."

Racing Car Hits Crowd, Six Killed

TEHUANTEPEC, Mexico (UP)—The Red Cross said that six persons were killed and an undetermined number were injured today when a race car driven by Bob Christie of Grant's Pass, Ore., hit them as they clustered around a previous wreck in the Pan-American auto race.

Spectators burst through the barriers and clustered around one wrecked car, the Red Cross said, despite efforts of police and soldiers to herd them to safety.

Christie, traveling at high speed, plowed into the crowd.

RANGOON (Reuters)—Burmese Communist rebels mined the Mandalay-Maymo train Tuesday night, killing 15 persons and injuring at least 23.

I'M NOT AFRAID TO DIE!

Mossadegh Weeps, Threatens to Starve

TEHRAN, Iran (UP)—Former Premier Mohammed Mossadegh, who said today he would fast unto death when the prosecutor at his treason trial ordered him to behave or face further confinement in a common jail cell.

"I'll go on a hunger strike until I die!" Mossadegh screamed. Then he wept and made sweeping motions with his hands.

The latest exchange between the 72-year-old ousted premier and Prosecutor Hussein Azemoudeh began when Azemoudeh complained that Mossadegh was "creating difficulties for us."

Azemoudeh said Mossadegh had worked himself into such frenzies that he has suffered mild heart attacks.

"This man (Mossadegh) may get heart failure and die—just as I myself became seriously ill Wednesday and thought I was about to pass into the next world—and then the blame will be put on us," the prosecutor said.

Mossadegh immediately interpreted the prosecutor's statement as a threat against him.

"This executioner wants to kill me," Mossadegh shouted. "When an attempt was made on the Shah's life (Feb. 4, 1949) they killed the would-be assassin on the spot. Now they'll kill me and also kill my murderer and everything will be forgotten."

Azemoudeh told the military court he would order the frail defendant removed to an ordinary cell and "subject him to the usual prison discipline" if he continued to keep the court in a turmoil.

"I won't budge an inch from here," Mossadegh said. "You want to destroy me. I'm not afraid to die. If you remove me from here to a cell I won't eat a thing."

Hall, Heady Die Dec. 18

Gas Chamber Recommended By Jurymen

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UP)

Carl Austin Hall, 34 and Mrs. Bonnie Brown Heady must die for the kidnapping and murder of Bobby Green-lease.

Federal Judge Albert L. Reeves today sentenced the kidnapers to death in the Missouri poison gas chamber at Jefferson City, Dec. 18.

He passed sentence immediately after a federal court jury of 12 middle-aged men, nine of them fathers, had recommended the death penalty under the Lindbergh Kidnap Law after only 67 minutes of deliberation.

Hall and Mrs. Heady, who confessed to kidnapping and murdering the six-year-old child for a record $600,000 ransom Sept. 28, took the verdict with the same stoical calm they had displayed through the four-day trial.

The prisoners were called before the bar, Hall standing on the right of Judge Reeves and Mrs. Heady standing on his left. Their sleeves almost touched, but they looked up and straight at the judge, never at each other.

Judge Reeves, a somber, 79-year-old man in black robes, asked Hall whether he had anything to say.

Hall said, "No, sir," the first words audible to the court he has uttered since his trial started.

He asked Mrs. Heady the same thing and she formed the words, "No, sir," with her lips, but the words themselves could not be heard, except possibly by Hall.

"You, Carl Austin Hall," the judge said, "shall be transported by the U.S. marshal to Jefferson City (Mo.), the state capital, where the sentence of death shall be imposed upon you in the lethal gas chamber during the day of December 18, 1953."

"You, Bonnie Brown Heady," the judge said, "shall be transported by the U.S. marshal to Jefferson City, the state capital, where the sentence of death shall be imposed upon you in the lethal gas chamber during the day of December 18, 1953."

REPORTERS EVADED

As soon as the judge completed his sentence, a woman employee of the U.S. marshal's office and a U.S. deputy marshal moved in and led them away.

Wheaton May Referee Free-for-All Debate

Acceptable Chairman Makes Possible Five-Party Meeting on Theatre Platform

George Wheaton, president of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, may act as chairman of a debate between all candidates in the Nov. 24 by-election at the Royal Theatre next Monday.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner, who promised an impartial chairman for the debate on the government's record, has asked Mr. Wheaton to preside.

Mr. Wheaton was out of town this morning, but it is understood he has informed Mr. Bonner he cannot chair a meeting of any individual political party because of his position in the chamber.

But he will act as chairman if the joint invitation comes from all candidates.

Mr. Gregory had no comment this morning, but will make a statement soon. CCF candidate Alfred Mathews said he is agreeable to Mr. Wheaton.

Other candidates could not be contacted but it is understood they will attend.

U.S. Makes Second Bid To Question Gouzenko

BY THE UNITED PRESS

The state department announced in Washington today it will ask Canada for the second time to let congressional spy hunters question Igor Gouzenko about Soviet espionage in the United States.

State department press officer Henry Snyder said a note requesting that the former Russian code clerk be made available to the Senate internal security subcommittee will be delivered to the Canadian Embassy here this afternoon.

But in Ottawa, External Affairs Minister Lester B. Pearson said Canada will not permit U.S. Senate investigators to question the former Russian code clerk unless they have "some new information or new factors bearing on the case."

Pearson told the House of Commons that no new request from the U.S. state department to allow the Senate subcommittee on Internal Security to question Gouzenko had been received here so far.

The state department spokesman indicated that this second request to Canada is an unusual diplomatic procedure.

He said that when the state department transmits a request for a second time to a government that had previously rejected it, "that in itself carries considerable weight."

Gouzenko, former code clerk in the Soviet Embassy at Ottawa, was star witness before a Canadian Royal Commission that investigated Russian atomic espionage in 1946.

Five polio cases have been reported this week in the province.

So far this year there have been 715 cases and 23 deaths. At this time in 1952 there had been 556 cases and 33 deaths.

The companies were: Dominion Rubber Company, Gutta Percha & Rubber Ltd., the B. F. Goodrich Rubber Company of Canada Ltd., Alfred Lambert Incorporated, Kaufman Rubber Co. Ltd., the Miner Rubber Company Ltd., Northern Woodstock Rubber Ltd.

This was the third case in which rubber companies have pleaded guilty to operating a combine. The first was in mechanical rubber products, the second in tires and tubes.

If convicted, the rubber industry faces some $250,000 in fines if the maximum fine of $10,000 is imposed in each case.

Sadler's Wells Ballet May Bring B.C. $10,000

VANCOUVER (CP)—British Columbia may collect $10,000 in amusement tax from the famed Sadler's Wells Ballet.

A spokesman said here Wednesday that the Quebec, Ontario and Manitoba provincial governments had remitted tax collections, but so far the B.C. government had declined to make any such agreement. B.C.'s tax is 17½ per cent.

The ballet is expected to play before 23,000 persons during eight performances here.

Amusement tax was remitted in other provinces because Sadler's Wells is a state ballet, subsidized directly by the British government.

NAVY SUPPLY SCHOOL MOVE CONFIRMED

OTTAWA (BUP)—Defense Minister Brooke Claxton has confirmed that the navy will transfer its supply school from Esquimalt, B.C., to Montreal.

The move is being made to economize in money and men. The school will be located at the new central supply depot being built for the navy in a Montreal suburb.

The navy's Esquimalt base was already overcrowded, and the room now occupied by the school was needed for other purposes, Claxton told parliament Wednesday.

School Space Inadequate, PTA Informed

More school classrooms are needed in practically every part of Greater Victoria, John Gough, municipal inspector of schools, said Wednesday night in an address to McKenzie Avenue School's PTA.

Mr. Gough spoke in support of the $3,385,700 by-law to be submitted to ratepayers in December.

He described difficulties faced by teachers and students having to attend classes in converted auditoriums and basements.

He said the school board's new building program would consolidate McKenzie School. New classrooms would be added to the main building. At present, some students have their classes in two old army huts. There are two other annexes in use.

A new Marigold School, proposed on part of what is now the Rudd Farm at Acorn and Burnside, would provide accommodation for children living in that vicinity who now must attend McKenzie Avenue or Strawberry Vale schools, he said.

CPA Tokyo Flights May Cut Pay Loads

VANCOUVER (CP)—Pay loads on Canadian Pacific Airlines operating to Tokyo may have to be reduced because of removal by the United States of a weather ship stationed in the North Pacific.

A spokesman said absence of the ship will deprive them of up-to-the-minute information on meteorological conditions in an area which lies directly on the Tokyo route.

The U.S. Coast Guard announced Tuesday that the floating weather station "S for Sierra" will be recalled from her lonely position on the Great Circle route halfway between Japan and the Aleutian Islands. The move was described as an economy measure.

CPA officials said they may have to sacrifice part of their payload on each aircraft to carry more fuel.

S for Sierra is one of two Pacific weather ships being relieved of their duties by the U.S.

The second is Station Uncle between San Francisco and Honolulu.

STUDENTS MUNCH AND MEDITATE

Sharp Queries of Young Voters Keep Rival Candidates on Alert

BY GORDON FORBES

Politically alert Victoria College students, numbering more than 200, proved Wednesday afternoon extension of the franchise to 19 and 20-year-olds was not a wasted effort.

The students, many of whom will vote for the first time in the Nov. 24 city by-election, showed they were alive to the issues in the campaign and were well aware of the weaknesses in each party's armor.

This came out at a forum, sponsored by the Men's Undergraduate Society, during which all five legislative aspirants spoke and answered questions. (See adjoining column.)

Chairman Cecil Branson noted the forum was unprecedented in the history of the college.

The students, many munching their lunches in the early stage of the debate, came up with some surprisingly astute questions which would have made some of their elders raise an eyebrow.

They applauded and cheered when they liked something a candidate said, and sat in stony silence when one of the speakers tried in vain to emphasize a not too impressive point.

The candidates, each allowed 15 minutes, covered much the same ground in their speeches as they've done in the past week.

Here are a few highlight remarks:

Alfred Matthews: Behind every Secord-mess is a Coalition failure. . . . Don't vote for a party just because your father and grandfather voted that way.

Mrs. Doris Blakey: Canada is being led to increased domination by and subservience to the U.S.A. There are unmistakable signs of a depression. Canada must accept sterling to increase trade with other countries and make jobs at home.

E. M. Gunderson: Results of the by-election won't effect the government's policies. The government has policies which it will follow regardless of the outcome of the election. . . . I was rather socialistically inclined in my youth but I studied it and found Socialism and Communism mean the more security, the less liberty.

George Gregory: It's nice to be home again. I was former president of the students' council here. The Secreds say they made no promises in the last election but to give good government, but newspaper stories of the campaign show they promised reduced taxes and a capital city grant for Victoria.

Deane Finlayson: Secreds say this is just a mere by-election but they have spent enough money on election advertising to keep 20 families alive for a year. A Gunderson defeat could mean the downfall of Mr. Bennett in his party.

Include waxed paper in your baby's visiting bag. It will serve as handy wrap for wet diapers.

THEIR QUESTIONS — And the Answers

Victoria College students hunted for chinks in the political armor of five rival candidates in the November 24 by-election when contenders spoke to them on Wednesday.

For instance:

ENAR GUNDERSON

Question: Do you believe in Social Credit's economic theories?

Answer: You'd think the economic system was God-made, to hear some people talk. It's man-made. Social Credit is not just a crackpot scheme from Alberta due to weather or atmosphere. Walter Reuther of the American CIO, says purchasing power must be increased. That's a Social Credit contention.

Question: Why does Mr. Bennett insist on you for finance minister? Aren't there any others who can do the job?

Answer: The premier asked me to stay on in the cabinet. (The minister outlined his long experience as a chartered accountant.)

DEANE FINLAYSON

Question: What's the difference between Liberals and Conservatives?

Answer: The principal difference is the Liberals are to the left and Conservatives have remained to the right.

GEORGE GREGORY

Question: Do you recognize the right of the premier to reply to Liberal leader Arthur Laing's claim of $23,000,000 in new Secord taxes?

Answer: Certainly.

Question: Even if the reply was pompous and absurd, the premier's right is not denied.

Answer: No.

Question: Seeing you quote an editorial criticizing the Secreds' new taxes, and like the editorial, why don't you take the newspaper's advice and not contest the election?

Answer: The Secreds, not the Liberals, caused the by-election to be called through the resignation of Percy Wright. The ballot gives electors a chance to register a protest against Secord policies.

MRS. DORIS BLAKEY

Question: Do any of the Labor-Progressive (Communist) campaign funds come from outside the country?

Answer: No.

Question: What is the LPP?

Answer: It is a Marxist party, endorsing the doctrines of Marx, Lenin and Stalin.

ALFRED MATTHEWS

Question: What is the stand of the CCF party on socialized medicine?

Answer: The CCF would institute socialized medicine if it won power in Canada.

Mr. Morrison and Mr. Bennett

MR. BENNETT'S RECENT ATTACK on the press as inaccurate and unfair in its criticism of his Government has been widely noted throughout Canada. Newspapers across the nation naturally remember that Social Credit, from its beginning in Alberta, has always resented criticism of any sort and from any source. The Aberhart Government was the only government in Canada which ever attempted to legislate the press into silence and perhaps would have succeeded if its gag law had not been thrown out by the courts.

Mr. Bennett has not proposed legislation of this sort but he complains that some sections of the press are written by "poison pens" and that the policies of his Government are misrepresented. He is confusing two entirely different things.

The newspapers are bound by common honesty to report accurately what the Government says, and we do not think Mr. Bennett will say that his statements have been either ignored or distorted. In the news columns of all reputable newspapers he is entitled to, has received and will continue to receive unbiased reports of all official statements and without comment, no matter what views the newspapers may hold.

But editorial comment belongs to the press and it must be free there to say precisely what it pleases. No one is compelled to believe it. Many people will disagree with it. But only an Aberhart will suggest that the press has no right to print, in columns known to be solely its own opinions, precisely what it thinks proper.

Mr. Bennett's quarrel, therefore, is with editorial comment, not with the news columns, where he has been treated with the fairness and full coverage which his position requires. In this respect he might usefully read a statement by Mr. Herbert Morrison, a distinguished Labor statesman of Britain, who has had good reason to quarrel with the editorial opinions of the press. Says Mr. Morrison, as reported by The London Times:

"Historically there has always been a state of more or less civil war between the newspapers and the politicians. The newspapers think it is among their first duties to criticize, even to attack, politicians. I want to lay down absolutely dogmatically and firmly that I have no complaint whatever that newspapers should attack politicians, including myself."

Mr. Bennett may come to that conclusion when he has enjoyed as much experience of democratic politics as Mr. Morrison. Meanwhile the public of British Columbia receives lectures on political morality from a Premier who, until he saw the Social Credit bandwagon under way, was a lifelong Conservative; bitter condemnation of a former Government which he supported and of all other parties, though he himself belonged until recently to one of them and vainly sought its leadership; lessons in manners from a politician who constantly traduces in violent language anyone who dares to question his policies in any detail; and appeals for tolerance from a Government whose customary language is bitter abuse, whose invariable posture is the rectitude and sanctity of Mr. Pecksniff.

The Americans' Neighbor

THE GROWING AWARENESS of Canada and its problems in the United States is indicated strikingly by a recent article in Barron's, a leading New York business publication. In language more vigorous than a foreigner would care to use it warns the United States Government against damaging the nation's best friend and largest customer by unwise tariff policies.

"In recent months," says Barron's, "the 3,000-mile border has in some respects grown more difficult to cross. The fact is that the U.S. has been waging surreptitious warfare against the Dominion in the sphere of foreign economic policy. What's more, owing to the growing clamor of special interest groups in this country, such warfare now threatens to become quite open and Canada, in turn, is talking of retaliating. In short, a partnership that has survived so many perils abroad is unmistakably in danger at home. It is surely time the Administration took notice of the wintry skies along the 49th parallel."

This rather overdraws the picture. Canada is disturbed by what, so far, have been only pin pricks from its neighbor, such as the indefensible restrictions on dairy exports to the American market. It is worried for the future about the pending application of the American mineral industry for higher duties or quota regulations on metal exports from this country, and the strong campaign of American oil companies for increased protection.

Most of all it wonders whether President Eisenhower, with a split party behind him and strong protectionist pressures in front of him, can succeed in his project of revising the nation's basic trade policy and increasing imports.

But Canadians understand the President's difficulties. They have high hopes for his success. Meanwhile they know that the United States tariff is generally lower than it ever was and that the United States is presently buying nearly sixty per cent of all Canadian exports.

The trouble, of course, is that Canada is buying still more from the United States and running a huge unfavorable balance in this trade—a deficit which must be made up of dollar sales abroad in dollar-short countries. A better balance in Canadian-American trade certainly must be achieved. It is encouraging to see from Barron's, from many other publications and from the speeches of American businessmen that these facts at last are penetrating the minds of our neighbors.

Encouraging Trend in Anti-Freeze

VICTORIA MOTORISTS NOW buying anti-freeze can purchase it at a dollar less a gallon than was charged last year.

The reason for that cut has already been explained in the news columns but merits brief repetition.

When Dow Chemical of Canada, manufacturers of the Canadian counterpart of anti-freeze imported from the United States, appealed for tariff protection against "mixtures" coming across the border, Finance Minister Abbott ordered an inquiry into the matter by the Tariff Board. Action taken against the "mixtures" persuaded U.S. interests to ship in only ethylene glycol, the main anti-freeze ingredient, which is tariff-free.

But at the time Mr. Abbott called for that investigation, he also instructed the Tariff Board to look into the price to the consumer in this country.

The result is obvious today. Motorists buy anti-freeze a dollar cheaper per gallon.

The example is impressive. It suggests further investigations into prices of Canadian articles enjoying or seeking protection against lower-priced American items of an almost identical nature. The experience with anti-freeze was warning to the motorist's heart. Perhaps opportunities for similar treatment might be found for the Canadian consumer public in general—particularly in the electrical field.

Indoctrinating the Young

THE ASSOCIATION OF French-Canadian Youth has informed a Quebec Royal Commission sitting in Montreal that it considers the Supreme Court of Canada "the gravest threat of recent times to provincial autonomy."

This expression of opinion follows closely the decision of the Supreme Court quashing action taken in Quebec against Jehovah's Witnesses, though news reports do not link the statement of French-Canadian Youth with the court's ruling.

Whether or not there is any connection between the two, the protest by this association of French Canadian youth echoes a cry familiar in Quebec. Provincial autonomy has been a standard continuously raised by Premier Duplessis to rally popular support for his own political ends.

It comes as something of a shock to Western Canada to realize how this theme has been indoctrinated in the 1,500 members who compose the Association of French-Canadian Youth. That it should find expression in an attack on the Supreme Court of Canada is more startling still.

That institution, the court of last resort in the nation, is usually and properly accepted as an agency above the pressures of political interest. It does not, as the association suggests, make the laws. It interprets them.

The unjust criticism launched by the Association of French-Canadian Youth may have an unfortunate divisive effect on Canada. But if anyone is to suffer from this result, surely it will be the association itself and the people whom it represents. As is almost invariably the case, such attacks will consolidate forces opposed to the youth association to the detriment of the interests promoting it.

LOOSE ENDS

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

Mrs. Noggins Votes for Gundy

WELL, I see by the papers," said Mrs. Noggins, "as Gunderson is rejoinin' taxes. Yes, 'e's cut 'em by three millions with one 'and and raised 'em with the other by a lot more. Any man who can make that look like a tax reduction is a wizard with figgers and can be safely trusted to administer our money. 'Tis the greatest feat of harithmetics since the invention of the addin' machine, which the government 'as never 'eard of. So, my vote goes to Gundy."

"I'm votin' for 'im because 'e reminds me so much of dear old Uncle 'Erbert, who was helected alderman of Liverpool on the same kind of figgerin'. Yes, 'Erbert over and over again would pay me back five pounds that 'e owed me, always scrupulous 'e was in money matters, and then, the same day 'e'd borrow ten. Wot are you complainin' about, says 'Erbert, 'ave n't I always paid you back? Of course 'e did, but somehow I allus went behind."

"So the government is rejoinin' taxes and tis only prejudiced Lib' rals and such like riff-raff as would point out in the end they'll pay more. Jest as Bennett says, 'ow can any man sink so low as to criticize the government? Why, says Bennett, when I 'ear some people doubt that the government is perfect it destroys my faith in 'uman nacher. I'm ashamed to belong to the same species. This kind of revolutionary talk, says 'e, is underminin' democracy and wreckin' society. At least let 'us 'ave decent manners in debate and in the next breath 'e denounces any critic of the government as sub-'uman or worse."

"AND anyway, says Bennett, I've just got to 'ave Gundy in the finance department on account of there isn't any one else in this government of all the talents who could possibly replace 'im. Why, would you force me, 'e says, to turn the finances of British Columbia over to one of my other colleagues who may not scare the opposition but certainly scare me? Would you push me to the last extremity and compel me to put the treasury in the 'ands of some Social Credit? Am I to be persuaded to entrust the public's money to my own government?"

"NO, sir, says 'e, I'm determined to protect the people, with my dyn' breath, from this cabinet, which 'as my complete confidence, but not enough, you understand, fer the management of public business. So it's unthinkable, says Bennett, that the helectors of Victoria would defeat Gundy and rob the government of its brain."

"As fer the financial figgers, says Bennett, they're safe with Gundy and 'e can do anythink 'e likes with 'em and it don't matter because the voters won't understand 'em anyway, as 'as bin proved at recent helections. My respect fer the public is too 'igh to himagine fer a moment that it'll listen to all this opposition 'air-splittin' and object to 'igher taxes when Gundy says taxes is goin' down. No no time for technicalities. Social Credit is too big to be imprisoned in statistics."

"AT a time of crisis like this, says Bennett, tis the juty of the public to be guided by broad and imperishable principles, same as me when I left the Conservative party when it refused to make me leader and joined Social Credit solely on account of my lifelong convictions that I discovered one mornin' in a sudden blaze of inspiration as soon as I seen the Tories was through. 'Tis a low and scandalous libel to suggest that this government 'as no principles when any intelligent man can see that everythink we do is based solidly on a single principle, which is to get helected, and wot principle, I'd like to know, is more practical than that?"

"TWAS on grounds of principle only," says Bennett, that I abolished the halternative vote when, as I've often said, I still believe in it myself; but I am only the servant of the people and I realized that they was against the halternative vote as soon as I seen that it would defeat Gundy in Victoria. It made me 'eart bleed to abolish it but tis a government of principle and we do our juty even if it forces us to win a by-election."

"Now Gundy refuses to say on the platform whether 'e's a Social Credit or not but, says Bennett, 'e's young in politics and innocent, and 'e'll learn, same as I 'ave. Give 'im time. At the moment 'e's too busy to support the theories which 'e's pledged to enforce or the policies on which 'e's runnin' for all 'is mind is dedicated to the task of rejoinin' taxes with one 'and and raisin' 'em with the other with a skill that frankly baffles me and I sure 'ope it baffles the voters. Yes, says Bennett, let the voters forget our past. Our future is white and spotless."

Planning or Freedom

Ottawa Journal

Mr. Oliver Lyttelton, Britain's Colonial Secretary, has long been distinguished for common sense and courage. Now he adds to his reputation by this flat declaration:

"Economic planning has been shown to be, in the sense in which the words are used, a great big bit of baloney. You cannot, in fact, have economic planning and individual freedom—you have to choose between the two."

Going on to add that there was no need for "a horde of officials, myriad forms, tons of paper, snoopers, questionnaires and intrusions into the kitchens and bedrooms of every house in England," Mr. Lyttelton said that to talk about economic planning and fixing of prices while discarding direction of labor was just "a great hypocrisy."

Wholesome to have this said. Because the trend towards government-planning, promoting the idea that officials sitting down in London, Washington or Ottawa may run business, with all its local problems and other complexities, better than businessmen themselves, and fostering the idea as well that economic action may be controlled at one end and not controlled at the other—prices fixed and wages left free—is dangerous stuff.

The truth, as Mr. Lyttelton says, is that state economic planning and free enterprise just can't be mixed. Governments may supervise, provide business opportunity, act as a referee between producer and consumer. When they go farther, start controlling one particular thing only to find that this necessitates controlling some other particular thing—which invariably happens—they soon find themselves into a maze of controls, including control of people.

Faithless Penelope

New York Times

HOMER'S Penelope justly carries the adjective faithful. While her husband was spending close to 20 years at war in a foreign land and having fine adventures on the way home, including some adventures with ladies to whom the word siren could justly be applied, Penelope resisted all invitations to marry anybody else. The web she wove during the day on her wifely loom she unwove at night. Why this fooled her suitors for so long a time one can hardly guess. Perhaps they didn't know anything about weaving.

Homer's Penelope—and one must try to make this point as delicately as possible—was renowned for the very virtue that the Bronx Zoo's Penelope, who is a member of the platypus family, has too much of.

The Bronx Zoo's Penelope, as near as one can make out, has lived too pure a life. Her friendship with another Bronx Zoo platypus named Cecil has apparently been on a high intellectual level. Penelope and Cecil, it seems, may have discussed politics, the cold war, the crisis in the cattle industry and why it is that human beings rather than platypuses are regarded as the higher species.

But that was all. The Bronx Zoo's Penelope has been faithful to the task laid upon her. She has fooled the keepers at the Zoo over quite a period of time. She has extracted extra rations, including eucalyptus leaves brought from afar on the supposition that she was about to produce a dear little platypus, or perhaps one should say platykitten. Discovery came at 11 o'clock on Thursday.

There was nothing whatever to show that Penelope was interested in eggs, nests or tiny garments. She has just been making the best of a good thing. One hardly knows what to say about this, except that it lowers one's already vague opinion of platypuses.

Plenty of Cheer Leaders

As Our Readers See It

DIRTY BUT HELPFUL

An open letter to Mr. J. Stuart Keate, You, as publisher of the Victoria Daily Times must be congratulated on your statement via radio station CKDA's roving reporter this morning that "this by-election has reached an all-time low." For once the truth has been stated.

Your newspaper has been the main factor in lowering the dignity of this by-election.

The Times has consistently displayed vituperous articles belittling the Hon. Mr. Gunderson, and members of the provincial Cabinet.

Many Times stories and articles are "slanted" to belittle Social Credit.

The Times cannot, somehow, seem to find the space to print many of the letters sent to the editor by members of the Social Credit League.

In every manner possible, Mr. Keate, your organization has tried to smash the Social Credit League in Victoria.

Another local newspaper has endeavored to embroil the Canadian Legion in politics.

This is to inform you that you have failed, miserably.

Our league is gaining in membership and prestige daily.

Thanks for your help.

HELPFUL NOT DIRTY

It is a sound principle of good government that there must be a strong and effective opposition in the Parliament, according to recognized interpreters of Canadian political life and thought. Mention may be made of two such—namely, Bruce Hutchison, brilliant editor and author, and the Hon. Beverley Baxter, distinguished journalist, dramatic and musical critic, and veteran member of the British House of Commons.

The business lives of these two authorities have been intimately bound up with politicians of all statures and their problems.

Says Mr. Hutchison in a masterly summation of Canada's political status in Maclean's—"The situation should alarm Canadians of every political party, because of the lack of an adequate Progressive Conservative opposition." The Hon. Baxter, also in Maclean's, heartily concurs—"They ought to know."

To give effect to such eminent counsel the Conservatives have chosen, their leader, Deane Finlayson, "a homespun" of commanding physical proportions, integrity and intellectual texture, to contest the by-election.

Those who value national welfare above party preferences will be guided by the wisdom of Messrs. Hutchison and Baxter.

WARNING

At the recent party convention of the Social Credit political machine in Vancouver, the former president of the overall Social League was turned down flat on seeking re-election as top of the outfit.

Then, following an almost open insurrection against any cabinet or even MLA domination of the inner shrine, the Douglasites, obviously tired of the long lip-service and the non-implementation of the merest fundamental principles of Social Credit by the Bennett government, took over complete control of the party machine and the convention. Noel Murphy, a Major Douglas fanatic of the Aberhart school, was elected president, replacing the repudiated Perdue.

Right away, Mr. Murphy outraged the boasting Bennett by declaring that no force could ever displace Social Credit in B.C. during the next 50 years. At the same time he warned Bennett that the Social Credit League will not long stand for a pseudo-Social government. He wants no, double-tongued course. With ruthless implication, he warned "we must take back what is rightly ours; the creation of our own medium of exchange and make it our servant instead of our master." Said he: "Words without action mean nothing to me!"

Victoria! Be warned in time. Be warned of the menace, not only to ourselves but to all our beloved Canada. The menace of a ruthless, misleading dictatorship that will bring financial ruin. Protect yourself, now!

WHO'S PETER? WHO'S PAUL?

Social Credit claim for savings and reduction of debt reminds me of a cartoon published in the papers by a finance company.

In this cartoon a woman rushes to the bedside of her husband who is ill in hospital. "Darling," she cries, "all our financial worries are over, I've paid our debts by borrowing from High-Falutin' Finance Company."

Now Wacky, Gundy and the rest rush to the voters crying, "Darlings, we've saved you millions, we've loaded debt responsibilities on the municipalities and the school boards will borrow for you now."

SCHOOL BORROWING

In Mr. Gunderson's radio speech over CBU he made the statement that since April first of this year the school districts of British Columbia had borrowed $7,000,000 under the new plan put into effect by the Social government whereby school districts borrow 100 per cent of their money for building as against a cash contribution of 50 per cent by the previous governments and borrowing 50 per cent for their share.

In view of the fact that the provincial government under the Socials is paying interest and sinking fund on 50 per cent of the borrowings, is it not a fact therefore that in a period of seven months the local boards have borrowed $3,500,000 on behalf of the provincial government. How can Mr. Gunderson, either on the radio or on the platform, say that the Socials have not borrowed any money, when by changing the statutes they compel a junior government to borrow on behalf of the provincial government.

Again I say, surely the people of British Columbia are entitled to the truth in dealing with the financial affairs of the province.

The Postwar Woman

Washington Post

American women since 1945 have found much change in their lives. War seems always to step up trends toward new activities and roles for women. The woman of 1953 as pictured in the study "Status of Women in the United States," just issued by the Women's Bureau of the Department of Labor, stands about one chance in three of being in an office, store or factory. If she is working she is more likely than not to be married. She may well be past 35, even 55. The surge of married and of older women into the labor force has been an outstanding development of the last decade.

Many wonder where all this will lead. For changes in women's lives seem especially to upset society, because of their effect on the home. Some good and some bad has come from the trend toward two-paycheck families. The great increase in home ownership is believed to have been one result. Also, more children are sent to college. The study shows that the proportion of wives who work is only 13 per cent in families where the husband's income is $10,000 or more, but rises to 29 per cent where the husband's income is between $2,000 and $3,000. Yet the absence of mothers from the home also creates problems in child rearing.

My son, make thy books thy companions. Let the cases and shelves be thy pleasure grounds and gardens. Bask in their paradise; gather their fruit; pluck their roses; take their spices and myrrh. If thy soul be satiate and weary, change from garden to garden, from furrow to furrow, from prospect to prospect. Then will thy desire renew itself and thy soul be filled with delight.

Never refuse to lend books to anyone who has not the means to purchase books for himself, but only ask that those who can be trusted to return the volumes.

—Words of Judah ibn Tibbon, who lived in twelfth-century Spain.

The Enemy All Over But Unseen

THIS is a war in which you do not see very much of the enemy unless you stick around for a long time. It is easy enough to hear the enemy's bullets whistling round your ears. Unless you are careful, you are quite likely to step on one of the enemy's mines. If you are lucky, you may even catch sight of dark, remote human specks craftily maneuvering through distant rice paddies.

Yet what has to be realized, none the less, is that this usually invisible enemy is generally somewhere in the immediate neighborhood. There may be a company of the Viet Minh hiding under water in the muddy canal by the roadside and breathing through bamboo tubes. There may be a Viet Minh battalion concealed in the marvelously camouflaged holes that they dig by night, waiting a chance to rush your camp. Or the peasants humbly toiling in the fields may simply have laid away their guns under the pale golden shocks of rice straw.

OMNIPRESENCE

This omnipresence of the enemy is the real heart of the problem in the Indo-Chinese war. Consider the fantastic disposition of forces here, and you will quickly see why.

In brief, the main prize both sides are fighting for is this rich and strange Tonkin Delta. The delta is a triangle about 100 miles long on each side. It is a huge lake in summer, remains a fertile marsh in the dry season, and supports an incredible population of 8,000,000. The delta, which is formed of Chinese soil deposited over the ages by the Red River, also lies conveniently close to the frontier of China. If and when the Communists get a firm grip on the delta, it will be only a matter of time until the rest of Indo-China falls under the Viet Minh yoke.

At present, the main body of Communist regular troops is outside the delta, in the surrounding wall of steep, jungle covered mountains and in the rich and important rice growing region of Than Hoa, just to the south. This main body of the Viet Minh strength comprises five infantry divisions and one artillery division. One of these divisions has been badly mauled and the enemy's current plan of attack has been distinctly upset by the offensive-defensive effort, Operation Mouette, which Generals Navarre and Cogan have now successfully completed. None the less, the enemy's main body is expected to attack the delta pretty soon, probably from the north.

IN HOLLYWOOD

'I Love Lucy' Rolls On

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"I Love Lucy" keeps on rolling along. The Lucille Ball-Desi Arnaz television show stays on its merry course, despite Red headlines, critics' knocks and conflicting audience ratings. Some of the latter show "Lucy" still holding the No. 1 spot it has enjoyed for the last year or two. Other surveys claim "Dragnet" has overtaken the Monday night domestic show.

The "Lucy" troupe isn't worried, says Jess Oppenheimer, sharp-eyed producer and head writer of the program. "Ratings are nice, but they don't mean everything," he explained. "The important thing is audience acceptance, and I think we've got that. There was something wrong in the big lead we had over other shows last season. The situation wasn't good for TV. The other shows had to improve or something had to happen."

The delta is the main French base. The superb French army could await the enemy's attack on the delta with some confidence if it were not for one rather unfortunate fact. In several respects, the Tonkin Delta is also the main Viet Minh base. At least 80 per cent of a map of the delta shown to me by Gen. Cogan was painted bright red, meaning that the villages in these regions were under Viet Minh control.

This wildly eccentric situation has existed since 1951, when large bodies of Communist troops infiltrated the delta, destroyed the village militias, and set up a secret Communist administration considerably more efficient than the Viet Nam government administration that the French support. This Communist administration of the delta rests primarily on force and terrorism. By terror and force, it boldly levies heavy taxes of rice which feed the main Viet Minh army. It calls up the recruits that maintain the army's strength. And it otherwise bends the suffering peasants to its will.

And while they terrorize the countryside into submission, these Viet Minh forces also carry on a continuous guerrilla war against the Franco-Viet Nam forces.

The plain truth is that the French command just does not control enough armed power for the two urgent tasks—cleaning up the vital delta base and opposing these six enemy regular divisions that are always threatening the delta from without. It is also rather questionable whether the growth of the Viet Nam government's army could be counted on to provide the needed extra power. At present, in any case, one of the two urgent tasks is always having to be sacrificed to the other.

VIET MINH GROWING

Meanwhile the Viet Minh strength is also growing. Only last month the Viet Minh artillery division received a complete new regiment, and the results of the Korean truce have not yet appeared.

In short, unless the American government wants to risk losing all of Asia by losing the war here, it is time to take a wholly new and very much bolder look at the situation in Indo-China. Such brilliant and implacable organization as Ho Chi Minh and his Gen. Giap have achieved, is not to be beaten by the kind of half-hearted effort the free world is making here. Gen. Navarre's and Gen. Cogan's men have plenty of courage and resourcefulness; but courage and resourcefulness will not do the job forever, when there are not nearly enough men and those men do not have nearly enough backing.

ISLAND DIGEST

DUNCAN—M. Leslie, truck driver, was fined $100 and assessed $20 costs when he was found guilty on a charge of impaired driving when he came before Magistrate W. H. Bryant here.

NANAIMO—Lamont Ross, one-time alderman here, has confirmed reports he again will try for a City Council seat in December. He was an alderman for three years and has served, too, on Breacon and Nanaimo school boards.

GANGES—Cause of a fire which completely destroyed the six-roomed home of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Testar, Rainbow Road, has not been determined. Only things saved from the house was a small quantity of clothing and an electric kettle.

PARKSVILLE—Plans for developing a "canal village" on Parksville Flats have been advanced by A. P. Denton, Vancouver, owner of 220 acres here, and architect Norman H. Woods.

It is proposed that the property be subdivided to provide for 500 homes, and that most of the homes have a waterway as well as a road running by them. Preliminary plans call for about three miles of canal. Main channels would permit launches up to 45 feet in length.

PORT ALBERNI—Both mayors in the twin cities of Alberni and Port Alberni have signified their intention to seek re-election and so far have met no opposition. Mayor Ben Wright will be trying for his third term in Alberni, and Mayor Loran Jordan will be trying for his fourth.

DUNCAN—The 80 teachers of Cowichan School District 65, in both elementary and high schools, are seeking a 10.5 per cent salary increase. The school board has been informed.

Cost of the increase would be as follows: Duncan, $5,850; North Cowichan, $8,240; provincial government (for unorganized territory), $17,410. School maintenance employees and office staffs are also seeking wage increases, which would cost the district another $7,000 a year.

DUNCAN—A referendum vote taken in IWA Local 180 on donating $1 per month per member to striking IWA members in interior B.C. has carried, and will mean the sending of from $4,000 to $5,000 per month to the strike-bound district.

Two Alberta Oil Men Killed When Dynamite Car Blows Up

CALGARY (CP)—Two oil exploration crew men, one from Calgary and one from Carstairs, were killed Wednesday when their truck, believed loaded with 100 pounds of dynamite, exploded in a rubble field 45 miles northeast of Calgary.

Dead are: Larry Marbach, 19, Calgary, and Reuben Remole, about 20, of Carstairs.

Parts of the truck and one of the dead, Marbach, were scattered over a half-mile area.

Three-quarters of a mile away, an oil rig crew heard the explosion and rushed to the scene where scattered debris marked the spot where moments before the truck occupants, employees of Socony Vacuum Exploration Co. of Calgary, had been bumping along the rough field with their deadly cargo.

A doctor from Strathmore arrived at the scene shortly after and pronounced the men dead.

JUDGMENT RESERVED REGINA (CP)—Saskatchewan Court of Appeals Wednesday reserved judgment on an appeal by the Saskatchewan College of Physicians and Surgeons to have a $7,000 award for libel set aside.

The college is appealing an award to Dr. David Arnott of London, Ont. He was granted $7,000 damages last spring from the college after the organization published a critical review of the Koch treatment for cancer of which Dr. Arnott is Canadian manufacturer.

The treatment involves injection of a chemical compound. FIRST ICE SHOWS EDMONTON (CP)—First ice of the season has appeared on the North Saskatchewan River here. Still slush ice, it extends 15 feet out from the banks. In an average year, the river is frozen from bank to bank by Nov. 15. Last year ice first showed Nov. 12.

COUNCIL BACKS STRIKE

WINNIPEG (BUP)—A strike by some 320 steelworkers at Dominion Bridge Company plants was backed today by the Winnipeg and District Trades and Labor Council.

Murray Cotterill, western representative of the CIO-CCL United Steelworkers of America, called on the council to give financial help to the strikers.

The workers downed tools late in September to enforce demands for higher wages. Cotterill said the men wanted the same wage rate as Dominion Bridge Co. workers at Toronto. He said the Winnipeg strike was costing the union nearly $6,000 a week.

ALBERTA TOPS POLIO DEATHS

EDMONTON (BUP)—Alberta's polio death toll was the highest in Canada today as Provincial health officials listed six new deaths that raised the fatality toll to 83 so far this year.

Seven new cases were reported, raising the province's case total to 1,190.

The new death toll was one higher than Manitoba's recorded 82 fatalities and 2,277 cases for the year. A record death toll was set by Saskatchewan last year with 90 reported.

TWO VIOLENT DEATHS

MOOSE JAW (CP)—Two accidents Wednesday took the lives of an Assiniboia district farmer and a Courval district woman.

Gordon Bishop was killed when a horse he was riding threw him and trampled him in a field on his farm near Assiniboia. His body was discovered by a brother.

Mrs. Sylvia Haug of the Courval district was instantly killed when a car operated by her husband went out of control on the Eastleigh road, 12 miles south of Mortlach, and rolled over several times. Mr. Haug was attempting to avoid hitting a cow when he lost control of the car.

Barnard Home May Be Made Guest Hostel

Application has been made for rezoning of property at 701 Sea Terrace, Victoria West, to permit conversion of the historic Barnard home into a tourist resort.

The application has been made by W. R. L. Dodd, Glenahol Hotel, on behalf of the owner, the Society of the Love of Jesus.

At present the property is zoned for single family residences. Before it could operate as a tourist resort the property would have to be rezoned for commercial use.

The home was built for Sir Frank and Lady Barnard. In recent years it has been known as St. Gregory-by-the-Sea.

Mr. Dodd, in his letter asking for rezoning, said consideration had been given to possible conversion of the large roomed, old home into an apartment building but that the old style of architecture had been against this.

He said heavy taxation and high upkeep charges made it impossible to operate the home without a zoning as long as the single-family zoning restriction remained.

Mr. Dodd said taxes on the property amounted to nearly $1,000 a year. He said if the zoning request was refused, it might be necessary to demolish the building. This, he felt, would mean losing a great historical landmark.

There are about eight large rooms in the building. In his letter, he said that if the property was rezoned, the building would be made into a "high-class tourist resort."

"We would assure you that our aims are to operate the estate in the quiet dignity which it deserves."

'Organized Resistance' to Plan Suspected, Hatcher Says Industry Not Helpful

The police forces, local industry and the Chinese community have been blasted in a report of the Civil Defense Organization of the Greater Victoria Target Area for lack of interest and co-operation.

The situation and other problems will be discussed at a Nov. 25 meeting of defense service chiefs, Nov. 25 at CD headquarters here.

The report, compiled by the director, L. G. Hatcher, stated: "Industry, as a whole, has shown little willingness. Some interest has been shown by the Chinese community, but progress is slow."

Also: "The appeal to existing police forces (on the subject of auxiliary traffic control) was completely ignored. An organized resistance seems to exist."

This was believed to stem from a fear strength of the forces might be affected. This was termed groundless, as volunteers would not be sworn into the forces, and would confine functions to emergency work.

170 CLASSES HELD To date 170 CD training classes have been held.

Public meetings have been held in schools and elsewhere to acquaint the population with the organization and what to do in an emergency, plus two large scale exercises earlier this year.

In addition, 600 nurses in the area are now hearing lectures on the medical aspects of the

Reiterated City Grant Promise Called Lure for Gunderson Votes

Social Credit advertisements say Finance Minister Einar Gunderson favors a principle of a capital city grant are "about as subtle as a landslide," George F. Gregory, Liberal candidate in the Nov. 24 by-election, said at a Laurier Club ladies' night dinner meeting Wednesday night.

"I don't object when a cat scratches, a dog barks or a political party plays politics according to the rule, but I take a dim view when Social Credit, which claims to do everything by the Bible, plays politics as they've never before been played," Mr. Gregory told the 128 present.

The candidate said Premier Bennett promised Victoria a capital city grant at a Royal Theatre rally before the last general election.

That was to get the then Social candidates elected, he said. All three were elected, he added, but "Victoria didn't get the grant."

Now, he said, it's being offered once again, but this time to get Finance Minister Einar Gunderson elected.

"Surely, Victoria should get the grant only if it deserves it. It shouldn't be on the condition that Mr. Gunderson is elected," NOT THE TRUTH

Mr. Gregory said Mr. Gunderson is not telling the truth when he says on the radio Social Credit only made one promise last June—to give good government.

The Liberal said the Socials promised lower taxes, ICA Act revision, voluntary hospital insurance and many other things, but didn't carry them out.

He quoted Mr. Gunderson as telling a Vancouver meeting that the "rise of taxation must be halted if individual initiative under free enterprise is to continue."

The minister, Mr. Gregory said, turned right around and levied about $19,000,000 in new taxation measures at the last session.

ON HORNS OF DILEMMA

He said Mr. Gunderson has placed himself on the horns of a dilemma by boasting about reducing the net debt $34,000,000 in 18 months.

"How any government with a $165,000,000 budget can cut the debt $34,000,000 in that time is beyond me. Either the Socials aren't telling the truth and don't deserve credit for the reductions, or if they are able to do that why are they piling on unnecessary, thoughtless and ridiculous taxes?"

He said the premier's arguments for the election of Mr. Gunderson, when stripped to bare essentials, come down to this:

"Because I, the premier, have named Mr. Gunderson finance minister, then you, the voters, should elect him by acclamation."

Mr. Gregory said the real issue in the campaign is whether the government deserves a vote of confidence.

Liberal Leader Arthur Laing, in a brief talk, said:

"If B.C. is to return public service and public life to the level it deserves, a lot of people are going to have to start playing the ball instead of the man."

Gordon Gibson, Lillooet M.L.A., said Social backbenchers in the House are afraid to be individualists and actually are nothing but "followers."

Crack Drivers Warned of Perils In $100,000 Race

TUXTLA GUTIERREZ, Mexico (UP)—Race drivers from 10 nations received their final briefing tonight for the dangerous $100,000 Pan American highway race across Mexico starting at dawn today.

They were warned they will have to drive racing cars—capable of speeds up to 180 miles an hour—as slow as 10 miles per hour over risky stretches of the mountainous, 329-mile first lap from this southeastern Mexico village to Oaxaca.

A total of 199 road-racing and passenger cars was entered in the five-day, 1,912-mile speed test which will end next Monday at Ciudad Juarez, across the Rio Grande from El Paso, Tex. But not all were expected to show up for the start.

Officials reported the paved highway to the colonial capital of Oaxaca was in "generally good" condition but cautioned drivers they would have to reduce speed "drastically" over several wooden bridges and rough sections of the road.

Governor Aranda Osorio of Chiapas State will flag away the field, including many of the world's top race drivers, at one-minute intervals beginning at 6.30 a.m. tomorrow.

Ex-Canadian Jockey World's Top Trainer

SAN MATEO, Calif. (AP)—A wee, canny Scots-Irishman who once rode as a jockey on the Canadian prairie circuit is the new world champion conditioner of thoroughbreds.

Robert Hyatt (Red) McDaniel set the record Wednesday when Mithra won the ninth race at Bay Meadows.

That gave McDaniel 185 victories for the year, breaking the 184 established by Californian Willie Molter in 1948.

Every win McDaniel adds in 21 more racing days at Bay Meadows and four at Santa Anita before New Year's Eve will increase his record, just as Bill Shoemaker's every win is boosting his world jockey mark.

Silent Shoe rode one winner Wednesday to bring his 1953 total to 445.

McDaniel is a dapper little man who at 43 looks as if he still could ride.

He did start as a jockey at 15 but quit in 1929 after a bad spill at Winter Park, Winnipeg, fractured his right leg.

He started his rise in 1947 with a $5,000 claimer named Stitch Again which ran second to Olhaver in the elite $100,000 Santa Anita handicapper beating Armed, Occupy and other top state horses.

He has hit the top, world or national riding championships the last four years straight, with Shoemaker.

Bombers Keep Experts Guessing

WINNIPEG (CP)—Everyone is trying to predict coach George Trafton's strategy for Saturday's Grey Cup sudden-death semi-final, when his mighty Blue Bombers take on the light but speedy Toronto Balmy Beach.

The "experts" already have declared Bombers a "shoo-in," but they're stumped as to what method Trafton will use to try to eliminate the champions of the Ontario Rugby Football Union.

Most guess that Trafton will send his first-stringers in at the start and try to build up a comfortable margin, then come back in the second half with his Canadian bench.

McFADDEN TO QUIT
NEW YORK (UP)—Jim McFadden, veteran Chicago Black Hawk wing, has decided to quit hockey, it was announced today.

If that's Trafton's system, then some 16,000 fans on hand will get a glimpse of the squad which side-lined Edmonton Eskimos 30-24 in the thrill-packed Western final at Edmonton Saturday night.

Some railbirds insist the Canadians, led by former McGill quarterback Geoff Crain, will get into the game at the opening whistle.

The "Canadians-first" advocates claim Trafton will not take a chance on his starry imports being injured unless necessary. Emphasis at Wednesday night's workout was on passing, and the ball-handlers and receivers looked sharp.

Murdoch Agitates To Keep Naden School on Coast

Ald. Brent Murdoch believes City Council should take immediate steps to organize opposition to the rumor that the supply school at HMCS Naden shortly may be moved to eastern Canada.

The alderman, in a letter he has written to the council, says: "We are all well aware of the substantial contribution the armed services make to the economic and industrial development of this area. In my opinion, this council, together with the other municipalities and the Chamber of Commerce, should protest vigorously the transfer of any branch of the services to eastern Canada unless, of course, it is a case of national emergency."

(A) "THE ALL-AMERICAN" (Odeon)—When it comes to football this reviewer is completely nuts.

Therefore don't pay too much attention to my rating of "The All-American."

Your correspondent is firmly convinced that Canadian football is the nation's No. 1 sport.

That the Grey Cup finals between eastern and western Canada in recent years have done more to unify the country than anything since Confederation or at least since the Dominion-Provincial agreement.

That the only thing missing in this beautiful British Columbia of ours is the great autumn sport. Without football there can be no autumn.

Just think! When Aramis Stukas and the Vancouver Lions roar in '54 we'll be just like any other province in the land.

We will have four seasons too.

Now, about "The All-American."

In his sophomore year at Mid-State U Tony Curtis wins All-American recognition. But his father and mother, who always wanted him to be an architect, are killed in an auto accident while driving to the game. The Mid-State coach refuses to tell Curtis about the tragedy fearing it will spoil his play. The upshot of it all is that Curtis leaves Mid-State in disgust and enrolls at ritzzy Sheridan to concentrate on architecture. There he immediately falls out with the entire student body because he doesn't turn out for the team.

To make his troubles more troublesome he gets mixed up with the dean's secretary, Lori Nelson, and a babe by the name of Mammie Van Doren.

But what do you care about the story? It's about football, isn't it? There are some dandy shots, panoramic and closeups, showing good passing, blocking, kicking and line play. Sure hero All-American Curtis goes on to win the games for dear old Sheridan, and in the dying minutes, too. Yes and he gets the girl.

Wha-ja expect? —Margot Fonteyn and the Sadler's Wells Ballet?

P.S. Apologies to Odeon Manager Elliott Brown. Really I didn't expect you to serve the hot dogs personally, Mr. Brown. Although they did add the proper football atmosphere.

Second half of the Odeon bill is "Murder Without Tears," a sound whodunit that deserves a solid 'BB' rating.

Off-Street Parking For Medical Block

Provision has been made in plans for a Medico-Arts Building, proposed for the southeast corner of Pandora and Cook, so that off-street parking space will be available adjacent to the building.

The Medico-Arts Building, to be built by a syndicate of Victoria doctors, will be a three-story structure, occupying two lots, which some time ago were rezoned for commercial use.

Architects Wade & Stockhill Wednesday made application for an adjoining lot to be rezoned as commercial area as well so that it can be used as a parking lot.

The application is in line with a recommendation of the Victoria Town Planning Commission which has suggested a new zoning by-law for the city which would require all future large buildings to provide their own off-street parking facilities.

Traffic Signs Often Ignored

Police Blame Disregard of Signals For Large Number of City Collisions

By ROY THORSEN

Disregard of stop signs and traffic lights, and failure to give hand signals, are listed by police as major causes of traffic accidents in Victoria.

Speeding, driving under influence of liquor, and improper passing tactics also take their toll, and the effects of failure to yield the right of way and driving too close to the car in front already have been dealt with in these columns.

A breakdown of a year's figures compiled by city police who attended accidents showed that ignoring stop signs and signals was the third largest cause of accidents in the 12-month period.

Local traffic safety officials list dozens of other causes, but none as great as the six heading the list. Pulling out from the curb without a proper lookout or hand signal is the cause of many collisions, and improper turns at intersections result in grief to many a motorist.

"When you are on the extreme right or left, don't make a turn that will result in suddenly crossing another driver's bow," traffic engineers advise.

"When coming to an intersection," they say, "make sure you are in the proper lane for your turn, then make a hand signal to give drivers behind you ample warning of what is to be expected."

To make a left turn get as close to the centre line as possible, and for a right turn keep close to the right-hand side of the street.

Approaches to Oak Bay junction via Oak Bay Avenue and Pandora Avenue leave no doubt as to what a driver should do, but some ignore the "left turn" and "no turn" directions printed on the road surface.

"In the lane marked 'left turn,' that is all the driver is allowed to do," said Sgt. Brooke Douglass of the city police traffic division. "He is not supposed to go straight ahead, since that lane is exclusively for those about to turn. Conversely, lanes marked 'no turn' mean just that — no turn. Drive straight ahead only."

LOEWY PREDICTS TREND TO LOW-TYPE STYLING

Raymond Loewy, industrial designer who said he was misquoted at the Paris auto show when he was credited with calling American cars "monstrous," now predicts design changes that will match increasing horsepower.

Low centre of gravity, adequate suspension, improved brakes, and a more positive steering ratio will be needed to make safer the higher driving speeds that will be engendered by the more powerful engines of the future, he said.

He said American styling will have the "low centre of gravity look," not so much as a fashion but as a by-product of improved roadability. Compactness will make the coming car easier to park, and the lower hood will improve visibility, he said.

SAFER MOTORING

By JACK SMITH

Peak Efficiency Aim of Engineer

Instalment 11. Contrary to the general idea created by advertisements about economy, the object of the engine designer is to construct an engine that will use as much gasoline as possible for its particular size and efficiency.

The L head is losing its popularity in favor of overhead valve types because they can consume more gas mixture.

Chrysler changed from an L head (side valve) engine to overhead rocker-operated valves; Jaguar from rocker-operated overhead valves to double-overhead camshafts, which in turn can run faster than the push-rod and rocker system.

These changes were made to enable the engine to burn more gas, or to give "more power per cubic inch of cylinder space." This is called volumetric efficiency.

Thermal Efficiency

The economy of operation is called thermal efficiency, and can be further defined as the amount of work you can get out of a given unit of gas.

In order to use a reasonably light, compact power plant that will give you the ability to climb hills rapidly, you must have high volumetric efficiency. To drive more miles per gallon you must have thermal efficiency, but this only applies between 15 and 60 miles per hour. Once the foot is on the floor, everything makes way for volumetric efficiency and the burning of every cubic inch of mixture possible.

Enlarges Ports

To take in, burn, and discharge this gas mixture as fast as possible, the engineer tries to get the biggest engine ports and valves possible without undue difficulty and expense.

The pipes, or manifolds, leading to these valves are carefully designed. Not only must plenty of mixture reach the cylinders, but the proportions of gas and air must be kept the same for each cylinder. With too big a pipe and carburetor, there would be places where the mixture would slow down and some of the gasoline would condense. Too small a pipe would give a fine grade of mixture, but not enough.

Heating Common

There are three ways out of this difficulty:

1. Fit carburetors for each opening and therefore leave no chance for condensation.
2. Use a small, smooth, "high velocity" pipe.
3. Use a large pipe and warm a spot under the carburetor to vaporize any condensed fuel.

Number 1 is used mainly where performance and not cost is paramount. No. 2 works well and costs little, and No. 3 is the most commonly used. With a thermostatically controlled valve, it will give you a fairly cool mixture for extreme speed, and enough heat for slow speed and economy.

Rapid Discharge

We now have carried the mixture to the ports, but we must admit it to the cylinders quickly, and discharge it quickly when burned.

Inside your engine is a bar of iron covered with irregular pear-shaped lumps which operate the "large-headed nails" called valves, which in turn open and close the inlet and exhaust ports.

This bar of iron is the camshaft. The shape and height of the lumps determine when each valve will open and close, how often, and how it will be pushed from its seat.

The answer is the same as letting people through a door — open it soon, open it fast, open it wide, and when everyone is through, slam it shut.

Unless you own a racing motorcycle, your camshaft will not operate in quite that fashion, since you would not be pleased with the noise.

De Soto Suited to Woman Driver

No longer are women driving big cars forced to peer through the steering wheel. Sheila Hall illustrates convenience of controls and perfect visibility from driver's seat of De Soto Firedome sedan at J. M. Wood Motors Ltd. (Times photo by Bill Halkett.)

De Soto Boosts Power Of Firedome for 1954

Except for a power increase, changes in dashboard and interior design, and adoption of the automatic transmission as standard equipment, De Soto for 1954 is little changed from the 1953 model.

On display at J. M. Wood Motors Ltd. here is a Firedome (V-8) sedan, priced at $4,245, plus $215 for power steering, that at first glance looks like the 1953 car.

Dashboard instruments have been regrouped, however, to a more businesslike and functional arrangement, and bright, washable fabrics have been used throughout.

The car follows the Chrysler policy of being rugged, sturdy, roomy, and comfortable. De Soto has never made any claims of superlative speed, pickup and economy, but taxi companies have always used the cars because of their adequacy in all departments.

SUITS ALL DRIVERS

In 1953, however, the company brought out a nice family model with an eight-cylindered bomb under the hood, and this year the power of the "bomb" has increased from 160 to 170 horsepower.

Therefore the car should be well suited both to elderly ladies who want comfort and dignity, and to younger folk who like to feel their heads snap back when they step on the throttle.

Visibility is good, and the car handles well. Its weight of 3,900 pounds, though substantial, is not too high to stifle the performance of the motor.

The "power house" is tidy, with the battery, oil filler caps, fuel pump and other vital parts readily accessible. Examination of the under side of the car reveals a solid chassis and massive running gear, all well raised to give ample road clearance. Sitting on the same chassis, and almost identical except for the engine, is the Powermaster line, with a basic price for the sedan of $3,765.

The Powermaster engine is a six-cylinder L-head of 265 cubic inches (the Firedome eight is 276 inches), that develops 119 horsepower.

GUNDERSON HIGHER TAXES

News of any action which might affect normal industrial activities travels fast, and companies with B.C. interests or with intentions of entering the B.C. field anxiously want to know if the government has singled out industry as its taxation easy "touch."

In addition to the new enactment which will allow cities and municipalities to assess plant machinery for local taxation purposes, the government has passed primary logging and mining taxation (10 per cent on net profits over $25,000) and 1 per cent tax on standing timber held under certain leases... the timing of the new taxation is not good.

Unless new contracts are authorized quickly there's going to be a slump in the construction industry early next year...

That's where the doubts about B.C. Government intentions toward industry become serious...

A deterring taxation policy is a matter that a comparatively inexperienced government should ponder carefully.

"TRIUMPH AND TRAGEDY"

Mussolini, Like Hitler, Kept Illusions to End

(This is another installment of Volume VI of the war memoirs of Winston Churchill, Britain's Prime Minister. Other installments will be carried daily.)

By WINSTON S. CHURCHILL

Gleaming success marked the end of our campaigns in the Mediterranean. In December (1944) Alexander had succeeded Wilson as Supreme Commander, while Mark Clark took command of the Fifteenth Army Group. After their strenuous efforts of the autumn our armies in Italy little party was stopped by partisan patrols; Mussolini was recognized and taken into custody. Other members, including Signorina Petacci, were also arrested. On Communist instructions the Duce and his mistress were taken out in a car next day and shot. Their bodies, together with others, were sent to Milan and strung up on meat-hooks in a petrol station on the Piazza San Lorenzo, where a group of Italian Partisans had lately been shot in public.

Receives Picture Of Final Scene

Such was the fate of the Italian dictator.

A photograph of the final scene was sent to me, and I was profoundly shocked.

Prime Minister to Field-Marshal Alexander (Italy).

10 May 45.

I have seen your photograph. The man who murdered Mussolini made a confession, published in the Daily Express, gloating over the treacherous and cowardly method of his action. In particular he said he shot Mussolini's mistress. Was she on the list of war criminals? Had he any authority from anybody to shoot this woman? It seems to me the cleansing hand of British military power should make inquiries on these points.

But at least the world was spared an Italian Nuremberg. Thus ended our 20 months' campaign in Italy.

By the middle of April it was clear that Hitler's Germany would soon be utterly destroyed. The invading armies drove onwards in their might and the space between them narrowed daily. Hitler had pondered where to make his last stand. As late as April 20 he still thought of leaving Berlin for the "Southern Redoubt" in the Bavarian Alps. That day he held a meeting of the principal Nazi leaders. As the German double-front East and West was in imminent danger of being cut in two by the spearpoint thrust of the Allies, he agreed to set up two separate commands. Admiral Doenitz was to take charge in the North both of the military and civil authorities, with the particular task of bringing back to Germany some two million refugees from the East. In the South General Kesselring was to command the remaining German armies. These arrangements were to take effect if Berlin fell.

Two days later on April 22, Hitler made his final and supreme decision to stay in Berlin to the end. The capital was soon completely encircled by the Russians and the Fuehrer had lost all power to control events. It remained for him to organize his own death amid the ruins of the city. He announced to the Nazi leaders who remained with him that he would die in Berlin. Goering and Himmler had both left after the Conference of the 20th, with thoughts of peace negotiations.

On April 25 Mussolini decided to disband the remnants of his armed forces and to ask the Cardinal Archbishop of Milan to arrange a meeting with the underground Military Committee of the Italian National Liberation Movement. That afternoon talks took place in the Archbishop's palace, but with a last furious gesture of independence Mussolini walked out. In the evening, followed by a convoy of thirty vehicles containing most of the surviving leaders of Italian Fascism, he drove to the prefecture at Como. He had no coherent plan, and as discussion became useless it was each man for himself. Accompanied by a handful of supporters and by his mistress, Clara Petacci, he attached himself to a small German convoy heading towards the Swiss frontier. The commander of the column was not anxious for trouble with Italian Partisans. The Duce was persuaded to put on a German great-coat and helmet. But the

For Mussolini also the end had come. Like Hitler he seems to have kept his illusions until almost the last moment. Late in March he had paid a final visit to his German partner, and returned to his headquarters on Lake Garda buoyed up with the thought of the secret weapons which could still lead to victory. But the rapid Allied advance from the Apennines made these hopes vain. There was hectic talk of a last stand in the mountainous areas on the Italo-Swiss frontier. But there was no will to fight left in the Italian Socialist Republic.

On April 25 Mussolini decided to disband the remnants of his armed forces and to ask the Cardinal Archbishop of Milan to arrange a meeting with the underground Military Committee of the Italian National Liberation Movement. That afternoon talks took place in the Archbishop's palace, but with a last furious gesture of independence Mussolini walked out. In the evening, followed by a convoy of thirty vehicles containing most of the surviving leaders of Italian Fascism, he drove to the prefecture at Como. He had no coherent plan, and as discussion became useless it was each man for himself. Accompanied by a handful of supporters and by his mistress, Clara Petacci, he attached himself to a small German convoy heading towards the Swiss frontier. The commander of the column was not anxious for trouble with Italian Partisans. The Duce was persuaded to put on a German great-coat and helmet. But the

in their minds. Goering, who had gone south, assured that Hitler had in fact abdicated by his resolve to stay in Berlin, and asked for confirmation that he should act formally as the successor to the Fuehrer. The reply was his instant dismissal from all his offices.

Attempt Bargain With Russians

The leaders who were left held a final conference. Last-minute attempts were made to negotiate with the Russians, but Zhukov demanded unconditional surrender. Bornmann tried to break through the Russian lines, and disappeared without trace. Goebbels, poisoned his six children and then ordered an SS guard to shoot his wife and himself. The remaining staff of Hitler's headquarters fell into Russian hands.

That evening a telegram reached Admiral Doenitz at his headquarters in Holstein:

In place of the former Reich-Marshal Goering the Fuehrer appoints you, Herr Grand Admiral, as his successor.

Written authority is on its way. You will immediately take all such measures as the situation requires.

Bornmann.

Chaos descended. Doenitz had been in touch with Himmler, who, he assumed, would be nominated as Hitler's successor if Berlin fell, and now supreme responsibility was suddenly thrust upon him without warning and he faced the task of organizing the surrender.

Himmler had for some months been urged to make personal contact with the Western Allies on his own initiative in the hope of negotiating a separate surrender. A General Schellenberg of the SS had proposed to him as an intermediary Count Bernadotte, the head of the Swedish Red Cross, who had occasion from time to time to visit Berlin. There had been secret meetings between Bernadotte and Himmler in February, and again in April, when Bernadotte visited the German capital. But the Nazi leader felt too deeply committed in his loyalty to Hitler to make any move. The Fuehrer's announcement on April 22 of the last stand in Berlin led him to act. In the early hours of April 25 a telegram arrived in London from Sir Victor Mallet, British Minister to Sweden. He reported that at 11 p.m. on April 24 he and his American colleague, Mr. Herschel Johnson, had been asked to call upon the Swedish Minister for Foreign Affairs, Mr. Boheman. The purpose of the interview was to meet Count Bernadotte, who had an urgent mission. Bernadotte told them that Himmler prepared to order the German forces in Denmark and Norway to surrender to either British, American, or Swedish troops.

When asked what he proposed to do if the Western Allies refused his offer, Himmler replied that he would take command of the Eastern Front and die in battle. Himmler said he hoped that the Western Allies rather than the Russians would be the first to enter Mecklenburg, in order to save the civilian population. Both Ministers remarked that Himmler's refusal to surrender on the Eastern Front looked like a last attempt to make trouble between the Western Allies and Russia.

Decision One for All Three Powers

I received this news on the morning of April 25 and immediately summoned the War Cabinet. Our reactions are shown in the message which I despatched to President Truman: "You will no doubt have received some hours ago the report from Stockholm by your Ambassador on the Bernadotte-Himmler talks. I called the War Cabinet together at once, and they approved the immediately following telegram, which we are sending to Marshal Stalin and repeating through the usual channels to you. We hope you will find it possible to telegraph to Marshal Stalin and to us in the same sense. As Himmler is evidently speaking for the German State, as much as anybody can, the reply that should be sent him through the Swedish Government is in principle a matter for the Triple Powers, since no one of us can enter into separate negotiations. This fact however in no way abrogates General Eisenhower or Field Marshal Alexander's authority to accept local surrenders as they occur."

Count Bernadotte went back to Germany to convey our demand to Himmler. No more was heard of the Nazi leader till May 22, when he was arrested by a British control post at Bremervorde. He was disguised and was not recognized; but his papers made the sentries suspicious and he was taken to a camp near Second Army Headquarters. He then told the commandant who he was. He was put under armed guard.

SPOTLIGHT TEST PROVES VAST SUPERIORITY OF G-E ULTRA-VISION

This dramatic test was carried out by TV dealer Dave Banfield of Young and Banfield, 794 Fort Street, Victoria, to prove conclusively the superiority of G-E Ultra-Vision over conventional TV. Under the same viewing conditions, he put leading conventional TV sets and a standard G-E Ultra-Vision set through this rigorous test. Holding two powerful floodlights at normal room lighting height and six feet away from each set, he focused the beams directly at the picture tubes. The conventional TV pictures without exception "washed out" under the lights, leaving an image too weak for viewing. Under the same conditions, the G-E Ultra-Vision picture remained clear and sharp, with brilliant blacks and whites and a wide range of intermediate tones...

WHAT THIS TEST MEANS TO YOU

This test proves that G-E Ultra-Vision allows normal room lighting that softens and improves the TV picture, to give a full evening's life-like entertainment that is so easy on the eyes. If you want to read or knit or work while others watch TV, you can have all the light you need. Yet G-E Ultra-Vision will give the same eye-comfort viewing ease and startling realism, however large or small your living room. Insist on seeing Ultra-Vision at your G-E dealer's... the moment you compare, you'll see the difference.

WHY G-E's ULTRA-VISION IS THE BEST PICTURE AVAILABLE IN TELEVISION...

An extraordinary Aluminized Picture Tube—engineered and introduced by G-E expressly for G-E Ultra-Vision, increases picture brightness up to 80%. The exclusive Stratopower Chassis—another G-E first—was designed and built to operate Ultra-Vision at FULL efficiency. And to complete your viewing enjoyment, G-E's remarkable Glarejector System and Filter Safety Glass eliminate every avoidable trace of reflection. See Ultra-Vision today and see what these advances can mean to you in terms of better viewing.

guard, stripped and searched for poison by a doctor. During the final stage of the examination he bit open a phial of cyanide, which he had apparently hidden in his mouth for some hours. He died almost instantly, just after 11 o'clock at night on Wednesday, May 23.

German Surrender In North Area

In the northwest the drama closed less sensationally. On May 2 news arrived of the surrender in Italy. On the same day our troops reached Lubeck, on the Baltic, making contact with the Russians and cutting off all the Germans in Denmark and Norway. On the 3rd we entered Hamburg without opposition and the garrison surrendered unconditionally. A German delegation came to Montgomery's headquarters on Lüneburg Heath. It was headed by Admiral Friedeburg, Doenitz's emissary, who sought a surrender agreement to include German troops in the north who were facing the Russians. This was rejected as being beyond the authority of an Army Group commander, who could deal only with his own front. Next day, having received fresh instructions from his superiors, Friedeburg signed the surrender of all German forces in North-West Germany, Holland, the Islands, Schleswig-Holstein, and Denmark.

In the course of a telegram to Mr. Eden at San Francisco, dated May 5, I told him:

"In the north Eisenhower threw in an American corps with great dexterity to help

Montgomery in the advance on Lubeck. He got there with 12 hours to spare. We are sending in a moderate holding force to Copenhagen by air, and the rest of Denmark is being rapidly occupied from henceforward by our fast-moving armoured columns. I think therefore, having regard to the joyous feeling of the Danes and the subject submission and would be partisanship of the surrendered Germans, we shall head our Soviet friends off at this point too.

In three successive days 2,500,000 Germans have surrendered to our British commanders. This is quite a satisfactory incident in our military history. Ike has been splendid throughout. We must vie with him in sportsmanship.

Friedeburg went on to Eisenhower's headquarters at Rheims, where he was joined by General Jodl on May 6. They played for time to allow as many soldiers and refugees as possible to disentangle themselves from the Russians and come over to the Western Allies, and they tried to surrender the Western Front separately. Eisenhower imposed a time-limit and insisted on a general capitulation. Jodl reported to Doenitz: "General Eisenhower insists that we sign today. If not, the Allied fronts will be closed to persons seeking to surrender individually. I see no alternative; chaos or signature. I ask you to confirm to me immediately by wireless that I have full powers to sign capitulation."

The instrument of total, unconditional surrender was signed by General Bedell Smith and General Jodl, with French and Russian officers as witnesses, at 2.41 a.m. on May 7. Thereby all hostilities ceased at midnight on May 8. The formal ratification by the German High Command took place in Berlin, under Russian arrangements, in the early hours of May 9. Air Chief Marshal Tedder signed on behalf of Eisenhower, Marshal Zhukov for the Russians, and Field Marshal Keitel for Germany.

The unconditional surrender of our enemies was the signal for the greatest outburst of joy in the history of mankind. The Second World War had indeed been fought to the bitter end in Europe. The vanquished as well as the victors felt inexpressible relief.

When in these tumultuous days I was asked to speak to the nation I had borne the chief responsibility in our island for almost exactly five years. Yet it may well be there were few whose hearts were more heavily burdened with anxiety than mine.

Named Tribal Chief

The man in the navy blue is "Chief Big Boat," elevated to the rank of Brantford, Ont., by chiefs of the Six Nations Indians. He is Rear Admiral James Hibbard, flag officer, Pacific Coast, who during the war commanded the tribal class destroyer Iroquois on Murmansk convoy runs, in Atlantic actions and in the English Channel. His fellow chiefs performed the honor on their reservation. Admiral Hibbard accepted the honor "on behalf of the ships' company."

Quality, Not Price, Governs Student Photo Discussions

Ken McAllister, chairman of the Victoria Zone, Professional Photographers' Association, said today the position of the association before Victoria school board in regard to taking pictures of school children had been misrepresented in news reports.

He said they were not endeavoring to keep children from getting photographs of themselves cheaper by having an outside firm do the work, as implied in the report of the school board meeting.

He said the local association was concerned only with seeing that the children get quality photographs at fair prices. Since permission for taking the photographs must be obtained from school authorities, it had been necessary to take the matter up with the school board.

Local photographers for years have been taking school children's pictures successfully, he said, and since they pay full rent or taxes as well as trades licenses and live in the city are entitled to consideration.

REAL ESTATE MEN HEAR

Earners Spend 13% Of Income on Homes

Victoria should attempt to play host to real estate conventions, as realtors elsewhere in Canada "really want to see this city," Harry Foster, president of the Real Estate Board of Greater Victoria, said Wednesday.

Addressing members at an Empress luncheon, he reviewed activities of the October convention in Winnipeg of the Canadian Real Estate Board. He attended as the "only official delegate from the West Coast."

Among points noted and discussed by delegates, Mr. Foster listed:

That 65 per cent of Canadians in homes own them.

That the Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation was proving a "bottleneck" to would-be home builders (the speaker did not elaborate).

That Canadians spend 13 per cent of their income on housing.

ing with more spent on purchase and maintenance of cars; That many persons live in sub-standard homes but "drive Cadillacs";

That there is not enough mortgage money available although a CMHA official termed this "nonsense";

That the trend in plant construction is to build one floor only and spread out which raised property values;

That real estate transactions in Canada last year totaled $2 billion.

Named president of the newly-formed salesmen's group of the board was Frank Kitto, who will also act as a board director.

BETWEEN TIMES

By MONTE ROBERTS

It was my unpleasant duty this morning to refuse an application for admittance to the Old Jokes Home. This applicant was brought to me by Monty Drake (who is responsible for one of the oldest residents in the Old Jokes Home), which made my task doubly unpleasant. But we must have standards, you know. Only very old and very feeble jokes are admitted.

Not jokes like this one, which obviously has many more years of useful life ahead of it, and is much too young for retirement:

A scientist living in Staines,
Is searching with infinite pains,
For a new type of sound,
Which he hopes when it's found,
Will travel much faster than planes.

One of the latest Old Jokes to find refuge in the Home was found, shivering in a gutter, by a student at Oak Bay High School. The student helped the joke into his classroom, and turned it over to his teacher, who in turn gave it to Bob Wallace. Bob then escorted it to the Old Jokes Home, where it is now curled up, contentedly, sleeping behind the stove.

Joke begins:
Student to science teacher: Why did the Oxide?
Teacher: I don't know. Why DID the Oxide?
Student: Because the Acid.
Joke over.

The above joke has already struck up a close friendship with one of the original tenants, "Why does a chicken cross the road?"

(The answer to this, of course, is a chicken crosses the road because it is afraid an enemy is laying for it).

Before we close the doors on the Old Jokes Home for today (much to your relief) I'd like you to meet one of my favorite residents.

A small red-white-and-blue elephant with pink polka dots walked into a bar and ordered a martini. The bartender, who was a little flustered, mixed the martini but forgot to put in the olive.

The elephant indignantly cried: "Hey, whatsamatter, why no olive in my martini?"

"Sorry, sir," replied the bartender. "I forgot." And thereupon he added an olive to the elephant's martini.

The elephant contentedly sipped his martini, and presently left the bar.

The bartender and a customer walked to the door and watched through the glass as the elephant, blowing mightily through his trunk, took off and flew through the air backwards, like a jet plane.

"My goodness," said the customer to the bartender, "That's queer, isn't it?"

"It certainly is," said the bartender, scratching his head. "I can't understand it. Makes all that fuss about an olive in his martini, and then doesn't eat it."

Realtor Protests City Plan to Lay U-Shaped Roadway
City Manager Cecil Wyatt and City Engineer Cyril Jones have recommended to city council public works committee that Warren Gardens, a proposed street in what is now vacant property, south of Despard, be made a U-shaped street with both ends coming out on what eventually will be an extension of Richardson Street.

At the same time, city realtor C. N. Montague has warned the committee he will use every means possible to oppose such a development. Mr. Montague, who owns what amounts to 17 lots on the north side of the proposed street, went before public works committee today to have Warren Gardens put through as a straight street, connecting St. Charles and Richmond.

He submitted Warren Gardens was dedicated as a straight street more than 20 years ago. He argued property values would be lessened under the plan recommended by the civic officials. The committee decided to consult other real estate men for further opinions on the possible effect on property values of the alternative schemes of development.

Christmas Home Lighting Contest Approved With Reservations

Home lighting contest sponsored at Christmas by the Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce, gained approval today of district police chiefs, but with reservations that rights of private citizens must be observed.

Jaycee members had asked police officials in Victoria, Oak Bay, Saanich and Esquimalt for vocal approval of the annual home decorating scheme. But past experience with a few inconsiderate exhibitors and curious sightseers has dampened official enthusiasm.

Only Esquimalt's chief, G. Stancombe, gave approval without reservation. Saanich chief, John Bull, was noncommittal.

"While it is a good thing from the point of view of fostering community spirit, people should be advised not to trespass on public property," said Oak Bay chief, H. C. F. Reston.

"Many Oak Bay residents have discontinued decorating the exteriors of their homes because of damage by children."

The firm tendered to do the work for $190, which was the lowest bid of seven received. Other tenders ranged from $630.10 to $859.90.

Leon Noite, young Victoria youth, was sentenced to six months at Oakalla Prison Farm's young offenders' section today by Magistrate Henry C. Hall in city police court.

Sentence was for stealing an overcoat of over the value of $25.

17-Year-Old Admits Two Burglaries
Seventeen-year-old Norman A. John-Nelson today pleaded guilty in city police court to two charges of theft and entry.

He was remanded for sentence until next Tuesday, Magistrate Henry C. Hall asked for a probation officer's report.

He pleaded guilty to break-in and theft at the Standard Steam Laundry, 841 View, and the premises of Gray Bros. Ltd., 941 Yates.

Detective Alex Briggs said that both premises were entered by breaking windows. The detective said Nelson stole a suit of clothes from the laundry, a pair of field glasses, a wrist watch and a cigarette lighter from Gray Bros. He said Nelson had assisted in recovery of the stolen goods.

Three Teen-Age Boys Hunted After Detention Home Escape
Three teen-age boys who escaped from the juvenile detention home at Cold Harbor Road here Wednesday night are still at large.

The three, two aged 17 and one 16, are being hunted over a wide area.

Lieut.-Col. W. S. Dingley, in charge of the home, reported the escape to city police at 6:45 p.m. A general alarm has been broadcast to all police units in the area.

The boys were held pending disposition of their cases by Magistrate Henry C. Hall in juvenile court here.

Wood Plays Again for Townsmen, in Church, Radio Shows
Victorians will have added opportunity to hear Esquimalt's gifted son, internationally-known pianist Robin Wood, both in person and by radio from Vancouver, soon.

Following a sell-out of tickets for a concert tonight at Victoria College, it was announced today that Mr. Wood and his wife, Winnifred Scott, will be featured in a dual recital at First United Church on Nov. 30.

Next Wednesday, Mr. Wood will interrupt his visit here to appear on a CBC recital in Vancouver. He will be heard locally over CBU at 6:15 p.m.

In the church concert, the artists will perform duos as well as present a group of solos each. Mr. Wood says this arrangement allows wider variety of selections.

The concert is jointly sponsored by the First United Church Young Men's Club and the Cerebral Palsy Association.

The pianists leave for Winnipeg immediately following the Nov. 30 concert where Winnifred Scott will be starred on the CBC "Prairie Showcase," Dec. 4.

Besides public appearances, the Woods will appear again on a CBC network show December 6 with a two-piano concerto by Mozart.

Toronto and other Eastern centre on both sides of the border also will be visited before their departure to England in January.

Born in Esquimalt, Robin Wood began his studies at the Royal Academy in 1946 and in his final year was awarded the coveted Dove prize as most distinguished student.

In 1949 he represented Great Britain at the Chopin festival at Warsaw and in 1950 won the Queen's Prize, open to any British-born pianist under 30.

He studied in Paris and Switzerland and represented the Royal Academy at the Leige Conservatoire, Belgium, in 1951.

Mrs. Wood, the former Winnifred Scott, whose name she employs on stage, is also an associated board scholar of the Royal Academy of Music, London. The pair met on shipboard in 1946 and married two years later. She shares her husband's fame in Britain and on current tour.

Struck By Car, Woman Suffers Spine Fracture

Mrs. Alice Kieser's State 'Only Fair'

A middle-aged Victoria woman, injured in a Cook Street traffic accident late Wednesday afternoon, was reported in "only fair" condition today at Jubilee Hospital.

Mrs. Alice M. Kieser, 140 Bushby, suffered a broken back and fractured pelvis.

She was in collision with a car at Cook and Pembroke at 5:25 p.m. while crossing the street after coming from Spencer house welfare centre, police report.

Driver of the car is reported to be James Harvey Ritchie, 1322 Johnson.

Police said Mrs. Kieser was crossing Cook in the middle of the block, south of Pembroke. The car was traveling south on Cook.

An eye-witness said Mrs. Kieser apparently had not heard the warning of a companion as they stood at the curb, "Don't go yet."

LITTLE GIRL HURT
In another accident, nine-year-old Sharon Grice, 828 Devonshire, received arm injuries when she was in collision with a car driven by Margaret B. Molson, 925 Foul Bay Road, at Fort and Douglas shortly before 3:45 p.m.

Police said the accident occurred while Sharon was running across Fort from the southwest to the northwest corner. She was treated at Royal Jubilee Hospital and taken home.

Damage was not extensive when a car driven by Emma Challen, 1703 Chandler, and a vehicle being pushed, collided at Yates and Blanshard Wednesday night at 11:10. Police said James Barton, HMCS Naden, when they collided at 7:25 p.m. on Esquimalt Road.

Damage was typed as moderate to two cars driven by George Craig, 1444 Westall, and Lonnie Donnelly, 1211 Carlisle, when they collided at 7:25 p.m. on Esquimalt Road.

Contract Buying Will Cut City Gasoline Bills
The city expects to save about $2,250 a year from now on by buying gasoline on a yearly contract basis.

Until now it has been the city's policy to share its business by buying gasoline from the six major oil companies on a month-to-month rotation basis. Recently, however, tenders were called to see if a saving could be obtained by entering into a 12-month agreement with one company.

The tenders came before the city's public works committee this morning, which recommended acceptance of the lowest tendered price, submitted by McColl-Frontenac Oil Company.

That firm has agreed to supply the city with premium gas at 33.65 cents a gallon and regular gas at 31.65 cents a gallon. The city uses about 100,000 gallons of gasoline a year.

Audit Says All in Order

Reeve Joseph Casey's name was cleared today that he was responsible for irregularities in finances of the municipality.

A report by the accounting firm of Ismay, Boiston, Dunn and Company disproved charges that the reeve had illegally permitted the payment of overtime pay to certain municipal employees.

There were no irregularities in any of the municipality's books, the accounting firm reported.

The charges against the reeve were made by ex-Councillor E. P. Cummins, a candidate for the reeve in the December municipal elections, and Thomas Nixon, a police commission candidate.

The two men at a council meeting earlier in the week accused the reeve of allowing overtime pay to be made to members of the municipal office staff without first obtaining authority from council.

They claimed that the reeve had acted contrary to the Municipal Act.

Mr. Cummins threatened to take the matter to B. C. Bracewell, deputy minister of municipal affairs. He also promised to see that "every cent of the overtime money is paid back to the municipality."

Mr. Nixon also queried the reeve on certain payments to the employees and with regard to gasoline expenses for cars.

ELECTION "STUNT"
Reeve Joseph Casey described the charges as "staged for the election campaign."

While Reeve Casey would not comment on the findings of the accounting firm, he is expected to demand a "public apology" from the two men who inferred that he had acted in an irregular manner with regard to the finances of the municipality.

After the charge had been made, Reeve Casey asked that an audit be made of the municipality's books.

Unionist Urges Work, Pay Cut To Make Jobs
A suggestion that tradesmen reduce their hours of work to solve the unemployment problem, and a hint that they take an accompanying reduction in take-home pay, has been advanced by a carpenter's union official.

"We've never ever had full employment again short of another war," Victor Midgley, international representative of the Carpenters' and Joiners' Brotherhood, said Wednesday night at a meeting of the Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council. "If we don't go after the six-hour day, 30-hour week, we'll always have unemployment."

"At this time we should work toward adjustment of hours and let the take-home pay adjust itself," he said. "We can't have both."

Mr. Midgley said his suggestion was prompted by the ever-increasing unemployment in the building trades, and that modern production techniques eliminated the need for a longer day.

His motion that the B.C. Trade Union Congress executive consider the matter and report back to affiliates was carried, although Percy Rayment, council secretary, said the congress already has been ordered to take this action.

"It will remain for the unions to push down the hours of work in their agreements, and not to enforce the same take-home pay," Mr. Rayment said.

Court Fines Two For Wilful Damage
Christopher Kiteley and George Mitchell were fined $15 each in the city police court today when found guilty by Magistrate H. C. Hall on a charge of committing wilful damage.

Mitchell was also ordered to pay $4.50 costs. Sgt. Stan Holmes told the court he had observed both accused on the roof of the Lincoln Hotel on the night of Nov. 2 and had seen Mitchell put his foot through a pane of glass in a skylight.

Kiteley was also remanded to Nov. 23 for trial on a charge of breaking and entering. James J. Proudfoot was counsel for both accused today and will represent Kiteley in the coming trial.

In Radio Recital
Clifford Evans, concert master of the Victoria Symphony Orchestra, will be heard in a half-hour violin recital on radio station CBU, Vancouver, at 1 p.m. Friday, it was announced today by Hans Gruber, orchestra conductor.

Drowning Finding In Chinese Death
A coroner's jury today returned a verdict that Wong Sam, also known as Hon Wing, 52, of Victoria, died as a result of drowning.

His badly decomposed body was taken from Inner Harbor waters Monday morning by city police.

The Chinese, a cook on the Salvage King, was reported missing four days after the ship caught fire and sank in the Inner Harbor. He had lived in the ship for the last 11 years.

SHOPPING GUIDE

Just for Those Types Who Read... Read... Read!

By PENNY SAVER

Attention all book-worms! You can come back to reality long enough to hear about this... the sensational new metal book mark. Come now! Don't give me that line about never using one... you'll have to pull that nose away from the pages long enough to eat a meal or take a nap!

Now that I've got you talked into the idea, I'm sure I'll be able to sell you some of these book marks because they're so much easier to use than the ordinary type that slips between the pages.

Now for the directions. You must slip the "arm" inside the back binding of the book, leaving the "clip" outside, ready to drop into place when you finish reading. You'll easily catch what I mean by the arm and clip when you see the book mark. And it costs just 35 cents. Gosh, at that price, you can almost afford to get one for every book you own!

Trial Island and the view from the top of the Malahat have been reproduced in countless ways, but this is the first time I've seen them hand-painted upon wall mirrors. Beautifully done in glorious oils, they cost $1.75 each.

Ah! What is that scent? Orange blossom? Pine? Citronella? Frangipani? Lavender? Sweet Pea? Rose Bouquet? You can take your pick of those delightful perfumes when you burn scented candles. They come in lovely pastel shades that reflect the particular perfume you're burning... $1.

Candle holders of artistically fashioned black metal are made especially for them, and sell at 95 cents each.

Now for something original in planters. A green porcelain log is topped with a see-saw of the same color upon which sits on each end, a funny gnome of paler green. Plants grow out of the log and around the see-saw, which, incidentally, works! $6.95.

Give Self Confidence To Treat Drunkard

By ELIZABETH B. HURLOCK, PhD

Drinking comes not from moral but from personality weakness. The drunkard is unable to face the trials of life and he drowns his disappointments in drink. The way the wife who wrote the following letter is trying to handle the situation is bound to make a bad situation worse. She says:

(Q)—"Ever since our marriage, my greatest problem has been my husband's drinking and cursing. He also shows no interest in our children or our home and goes out alone most of the time, drinking or fishing."

"He is a good provider but our marriage is not a happy one. I have tried to persuade him to talk over his drinking with a doctor or minister but he refuses."

"Whenever he uses abusive language, I reprimand him in front of the children. I keep telling the children I hope they will never drink as it causes so much unhappiness."

Do you think this is the proper way to handle the situation? I realize that this is degrading to their father but I want them to know he is doing wrong."

(A)—I definitely think your tactics are wrong. You cannot solve your problem by the tactics you are using. You may save your children from following in your husband's footsteps, but it will be at your husband's expense and at the expense of your marriage.

Why not talk over the problem with your doctor or minister or both and ask them to help you to handle it more successfully than you have done in the past? Knowing your husband, they could give you advice a stranger could not give.

As a general policy, however, you must inflate the ego of a drunkard. He drinks because he feels inadequate and unhappy. To cure him of drinking, you must cure the cause of the trouble. You are not doing this by criticizing him in front of your children.

You naturally want to keep your children from following in their father's footsteps but why not talk to them about his behavior behind his back? Tell them their father drinks because he is unhappy and try to persuade them to be kind to him.

Elizabeth Hurlock is one of the nation's best psychologists, and she will gladly help you with your personal problems.

Knees Not to Show Next Spring; Fashion's Edict

NEW YORK (AP)—Girls with bowlegs can stop worrying. They won't have to show their knees next spring.

As store buyers poured into New York for the opening of spring market week in the wholesale garment district, it became apparent that the brief threat of knee-length skirts launched in Paris was a false alarm.

Perhaps the storm of protests from women had something to do with it. Perhaps New York manufacturers decided not to be pushed around any more by Paris "decrees." Whatever the reason, next spring's coats, suits and dresses shown by leading wholesalers are about the same length as those of this fall. In some cases skirts may be slightly shorter, but the difference is not perceptible.

Biggest news so far in the early showings is the return of the black or navy fitted dressy coat, in silk or wool—and-silk mixtures, for spring town wear.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Discourage Varicose Veins By Using These Measures

Varicose veins can be painful and even dangerous if they are extreme and neglected. For most middle-aged women, however, they are a nuisance and an embarrassment because they are ugly. These are, of course, a question for the doctor and a medical subject. However, today I want to bring you a few facts about them.

At whatever stage your varicosity may be, you should see a physician. Needless pain and trouble later on may be avoided by a little early treatment and preventative medicine.

It has been estimated that about half of the adult population has varicose veins to some degree. More women than men have them. Some of the predisposing factors are pregnancy, standing long hours, tight girdles and garters and heredity. This latter is an important factor but one about which we can do nothing. We do not select our ancestors, but if you come from a family in which varicose veins are prevalent, you would be wise to take preventative measures.

1. Do not stand except when necessary.

2. Exercise is an aid rather than a drawback in preventing their development.

3. Discard tight clothing.

4. Take short rest periods periodically with your feet elevated.

5. Visit your doctor if your veins are varicose.

Often early treatment can make a great difference. Sometimes injections are used, and the habit of resting with the feet up and wearing elastic stockings will help. By the way, the newer elastic stockings are barely noticeable.

Today there is no reason for a person to suffer from these disfiguring handicaps. In extreme cases surgery may be used. The pregnant woman with a tendency toward varicose veins may be asked to wear elastic stockings for the period of pregnancy as a preventative measure.

OF PERSONAL INTEREST

Exquisite Ball Gowns Chosen By Debs

On Friday night, 14 lovely debutantes, wearing their traditionally white presentation gowns, will make their curtsies to His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Wallace.

Miss Marilyn Bassett has chosen multi-tiered nylon net over taffeta with crinoline petticoat. Each ruffled tier is edged with satin binding. Bodice is strapless, and she will wear rhinestone jewelry.

Miss Sheila Hardie will wear an imported gown of silk-chiffon, styled with draped bodice and a stole which attaches at one shoulder. The skirt is full and scattered with several pink rose-buds.

A shimmering waltz-length gown of nylon tulle embroidered with mother of pearl sequins will be worn by Miss Peta-Ann McGowan. The bouffant skirt is crinoline style and the bodice has a halter neckline. A wisp of nylon tulle will be worn over the shoulders as a stole.

Miss Clare Collison will wear filmy brocaded nylon, fashioned in a full-length gown with full skirt of unpressed pleats. The fitted bodice features a triple folded cuff and dainty shoulder straps. She will wear pearl jewelry.

Tiers of nylon net frills, each one edged with lace, will create a Dresden-like skirt for Miss Norma Greig. The strapless bodice of her gown is edged with a velvet band and she will wear a triangular stole of net with lace edging.

A fine silver thread is woven into the outer layer of net on the gown of Miss-Vernonica Hummel. The bouffant skirt of taffeta is topped with two tiers of the net, the hemline of the outer being scalloped. A single layer of the silver-threaded net over taffeta forms the fitted bodice, over which she will wear a fine net stole. Rhinestone jewelry will complement her gown.

A true crinoline gown, complete with hoops, will be worn by Miss Frances Fredette. Nylon net over satin-with tiers of French lace at the hipline forms the skirt, which is slightly en-train. A bodice of tucked nylon-over-lace trimmed with a row of tiny pearls will be covered with a dainty short-sleeved lace jacket which matches her lace gloves.

Miss Roberta Crombie has chosen white taffeta with a bouffant overskirt of nylon net in several tiers. Pleated nylon net creates the strapless bodice, which is edged at the neckline with sparkling rhinestones. She will wear a stole of the net.

Miss Katharine Riddle will also waltz in a cloud of nylon net over taffeta. The full-skirted gown is styled with a strapless bodice which continues to the hipline, forming a pointed, low-torso effect. She will wear rhinestone jewelry to match the brilliants which glitter on the bodice of her gown, and a short jacket with ruffled collar.

A crisp butterfly bow will give a bustle-effect to the gown worn by Miss Gillian Bridgman. When the wearer slips her arms through the bow, it forms an attractive stole. White nylon net over taffeta forms the full-skirted ball gown with strapless bodice embroidered in rhinestones. She will wear pearls.

Miss Beth Martin will wear a bouffant gown of misty net over taffeta. The strapless bodice of shirred net is dotted with gold sequins. Around her shoulders she will wear a stole of the net. For jewelry Miss Martin will wear her grandmother's gold locket and a pair of tiny gold earrings.

The plunging neckline on the gown of Miss Jill Robinson will be filled with tiny rows of white net ruffles. Beaded embroidery in floral design will cover the bodice and the skirt of the gown to the hipline, where there is a hoop effect. Bouffant net tops her underskirt of gleaming white satin. She will wear pearl jewelry.

A combination of nylon net and lace will create a ball gown for Miss Patricia Turner. The full skirt is fashioned of the net with panels of lace. Bodice is strapless with a lace jacket. She will wear a necklace of brilliants.

Miss Peggy McNeven's choice is shimmering illusion tulle imported from eastern Canada. The skirt is extremely bouffant and the bodice of shirred tulle is trimmed at the waistline with mother of pearl sequins. The same sequins form the fine shoulder straps. Three small white orchids, flown in from Whitby, Ont., will be worn in her hair.

Mainland Guests at Ball

Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Oliver, West Vancouver, will arrive in Victoria on Friday afternoon and attend the United Services Ball at the Empress Hotel that evening. While in the city they will be guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Hardie, Gonzales Road, parents of Miss Sheila Hardie, one of the debutantes.

Dinner Dance Tonight

Legers firmly closed and tax figures forgotten, members of the Institute of Chartered Accountants of British Columbia will gather in Hotel Vancouver's Panorama Roof tonight for their third annual dinner dance. Patrons will be Premier W. C. Bennett and Mrs. Bennett and Brig. Sherwood Lett and Mrs. Lett. Before the dance a reception will be held to honor the patrons, when hosts will be Mr. G. F. Dunn, Victoria, president of the institute, and Mrs. Dunn and the vice-president, Mr. D. R. Lukin Johnston, and Mrs. Johnston. Among others attending the dinner dance from Victoria are Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Nicholl, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Nation and Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Flury.

To Open Bazaar

Mrs. Claude Harrison, wife of the mayor of Victoria, will officially open the Dolls' Bazaar, sponsored by the Junior Auxiliary, Royal Jubilee Hospital, in Club Sirocco, next Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Pupils of the Wynne Shaw School will perform during the tea hour. Auxiliary president, Mrs. Len Acres, will act as hostess and will also preside at the guest tea table.

To honor their guest speaker at Women's Canadian Club Wednesday afternoon, Miss Elizabeth Forbes, the executive of the club entertained at tea at the home of Dr. Olga Jardine, 1540 Despard Avenue. Mrs. J. Snape presided at the tea table, and others present were Mrs. H. Ellis, Mrs. E. S. Farr, Mrs. Gordon Wismer, Mrs. E. E. Livesey, Mrs. A. Pollard, Mrs. J. C. Matheson, Mrs. R. G. McKee, Mrs. R. T. Wallace, Miss Freda Small and Miss Jessie Gordon.

Rubbing a scoured cast-iron skillet with vegetable shortening, and then exposing it to low heat for 20 to 30 minutes, will restore its smooth finish.

EYEBROW GROOMING A NECESSITY

REGINA (CP) — Hair stylist Peter Mays has this advice for women: "Watch those eyebrows."

Mays, who arrived recently from Toronto, says many a carefully-groomed effect is ruined by lack of attention to the most important focal point of a girl's face — her eyebrows.

All it needs is a flick of the wrist with an eyebrow pencil, to highlight the eyes and transform mediocrity to personality.

Mays, an expert in make-up who has worked for professional and amateur fashion shows, says "personality" is the most important of all when it comes to style.

Only British Columbians May Buy New BCE Shares

An "All-B.C." issue of common shares in B.C. Power Corporation Limited, parent company of B.C. Electric, goes on sale throughout the province Monday—first voting stock offered to the public by the firm in more than 20 years.

A total of 150,000 shares will be marketed, and these may be purchased only by residents of British Columbia.

This is the first offering made by the company since its "A" and "B" shares were called in and replaced by a new, single-class common share.

The selling group for the new issue is headed by Nesbitt Thomson & Co., Ltd., and Wood Gundy & Co., Ltd.

Capital realized from the sale, said BCE president A. E. Grauer, will be used for the company's 1954 construction and expansion program.

"We are limiting the sale of this issue to investors in this province," Mr. Grauer commented, "because the B.C. Electric is a British Columbia company serving two out of every three people who live here."

Unbalanced Budget Would Help Market

By ELMER C. WALZER
United Press Financial Editor

NEW YORK (UP)—Wall Street is making capital of recent statements from high places that a budget balance is out for fiscal 1954-55.

For many years, deficit-spending and war-spending have knocked out budget balances. The over-all accompaniment has been inflation.

Somehow market men have deduced that an unbalanced budget again will mean inflation, and hence be favorable for the market.

It was recalled that the government's policy of tight money—deflation—was a major factor in the drop in the market which ended in mid-September. The subsequent recovery came when this policy was abandoned, it is held.

Thus there is a growing emphasis on the theory that deflation will bring lower stock prices and inflation higher stock prices. The current analysis of the situation holds that there recently has been a slight rise in inflation potentials.

Market men agree that about everything already has been inflated except the stock market.

Many of them feel also that nothing will inflate stocks like inflation of a general nature.

Brokerage comment has tended toward inflation suggestions recently—suggestions on what the government could do to stave off a decline in the economy if the need arose for a real stimulus.

Sam Smith, analyst for Bache & Co., looks on road building as a No. 1 item in this connection. He says that a sum possibly as high as $30,000,000,000 may be necessary to bring the nation's road system up to current requirements.

He sees $3,000,000,000 or $4,000,000,000 road spending as a minimum annual outlay, and notes that some estimates for yearly road building costs run up to $8,000,000,000.

"In event a recessionary phase of consequence were to set in during the next year or two," he says, "it is presumed that the United States government, in conjunction with state and local governments, would give this project top priority."

"This would tend to spread out employment and generate business activity throughout many sectors of the country."

U.S. Trade Policy Key to Free World's Future, Gordon Says

DETROIT—Calling for relaxation of barriers to international trade, Donald Gordon, president of Canadian National Railways, declared here that North American action towards the goal of freer world trade is of crucial importance to the economic well-being of the entire western world.

Speaking at the Wednesday night's annual dinner of the Bankers Club, he said that Canada and the United States should have a common concept about the principles of trade. "Obviously, however, it is the United States which is in the dominant position to take the lead in laying down such principles," Mr. Gordon stated. "The influence of the United States on the economic relations of the free world cannot be over-emphasized. In a major sense only a liberalization of United States commercial policy can create the atmosphere which will make an expansion of world trade possible."

Labor Body Plays No Party Favorites, Says Rayment, As CCF Request Denied

A request from the CCF to introduce its city by-election candidate, Alfred G. Matthews, to Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council secretary Percy Rayment reported Wednesday night.

"I have already replied that granting the request was impossible," he said at a regular meeting of the council, "and that the council does not become involved in party politics."

Mr. Rayment added that he had been visited by Liberal leader Arthur Laing, city Liberal candidate George Gregory and Andrew Whisker, candidate for reeve in Esquimalt.

"We had a long discussion," he said, "but I can say quite frankly that they did not ask me to use my influence with labor on their behalf."

A letter from the T. Eaton Co., soliciting business for its Christmas party and gift service did little to achieve its end.

"I move we inform them that we cannot recommend their service because the firm is not a union house," Mr. Rayment said.

The motion was carried.

B.C. Labor Aim To Give Land To Immigrant

Lands and Forest Minister R. E. Sommers will be asked to have the Pre-Emption Act opened to facilitate the settling of immigrants on land through homesteading.

Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council Wednesday night supported a brief to this effect prepared by John Aubrey, legislative committee chairman, which pointed out that "land is going to waste and there is a surplus of labor."

"Many immigrants now in British Columbia are willing to work for sub-standard wages toward a goal of having their own land," Mr. Aubrey said. "The act should be opened to make it easier for them to have the land."

Bennett Charges Liberals Support Powerful Interests

A charge that the Liberal Party is the champion of "powerful interests" and has never been the friends of the people was made by Premier W. A. C. Bennett at a by-election meeting Wednesday.

The premier, speaking at Norway house on behalf of Social

Credit candidate Einar Gunderson, charged that the political record of former Liberal governments showed that the Liberals were "friends of the powerful interests."

To support his charge, the premier said the Liberals had never attempted to impose fair tax on large industries making huge profits on the natural resources of the province.

Under a tax agreement with the Federal Government the Liberals had the power to increase the tax on industries, but had never done so, Mr. Bennett said.

He said the Liberals are now criticising the Social Credit Government for imposing a 10 per cent tax on the lumbering and mining industry.

PEOPLE'S PROFITS
"There is no reason why a tax of this type should not be imposed," said the Premier. "Industry is making profits from natural resources which belong to the people."

Claiming that the Social Credit Party stood for "enlightened private enterprise," Mr. Bennett said his party did not cater to a privileged few in business, contented no type of patronage.

The premier accused the Liberals of attempting to make people believe that the Social Credit Party had not carried out its promise at the last session of the legislature to amend the Industrial Conciliation and Arbitration Act.

"We never said we would amend the Act at that time," he said. "That is a deliberate falsehood. But we intend to amend the act, and to make it fair for both labor and management."

The premier lashed out at opposing political parties, claiming they are attempting to infer that there is dissension among members of the Social Credit party.

INFERENCE UNSOUND.
It had been inferred by candidates of opposing political parties, Mr. Bennett said, that W. M. Chant, M.L.A. for Victoria, never attended Social Credit meetings because of a disagreement with the party.

"Mr. Chant was away in Alberta to see his granddaughter stricken with polio," explained the premier. "He has now returned to Victoria."

Finance Minister Gunderson said the government had kept its promises of reducing the taxes of the general consumer.

"We have taken off the three per cent tax on meals under one dollar and reduced the tax on motor vehicle licenses," he said.

"We have only begun to reduce the taxes," he added. "We hope eventually to do away completely with the three per cent tax."

Public Works Minister P. A. Gagliardi, who also spoke on behalf of Mr. Gunderson, said the Social Credit Government had saved the people considerable money by obtaining a discount from dealers on all cars and trucks purchased for the government.

DISCOUNT SAVING
"Under the Coalition Government automobile dealers gave only a three per cent discount on all car purchases," said Mr. Gagliardi. "We got 10 per cent, and on some trucks as much as 25 per cent. This represents a considerable saving."

"Don't ask me why the government never got more discount on the cars it purchased," he added. "I was told by a dealer that they never asked for a larger discount."

Mr. Gagliardi said that he did not want to suggest that there was anything "underhand."

"But it shows a lack of concern for public money," he said. W. R. T. Chetwynd, Minister of Trade and Industry, also addressed the meeting. He said there is no truth in reports that people from other parts of Canada were afraid to invest their money in British Columbia because of the Social Credit Government.

"More money than ever is being invested in British Columbia," he said. "New industries are being established here every day."

In making the announcement in Ottawa the department of external affairs said a successor would soon be announced. (SNS photo.)

Lord's Day Act Interpretation By Bonner Sought

VANCOUVER (BUP) — Rev. Stanley Higgs, president of the Lord's Day Alliance, is expected to go to Victoria soon to query the attorney-general on his interpretation of the Lord's Day Act.

Higgs said in a statement Wednesday that he will not demand prosecution for some of the city's Sunday attractions, but he definitely stated he will persist to know just what the act means.

He added in the statement that "The Lord's Day Act is a law of the land and we live under it. The majority of people have said they are in favor of it, but we are in danger of losing the whole concept of Sunday."

Depending on the way Attorney-General Robert Bonner interprets the Lord's Day Act, some of the city's charitable Sunday attractions may face future prosecution.

Forest Killers Under Study As Pathologists Plan Attack

Victoria is host today to an international forest pathologists' conference. Forestry officials here stress that this is shop-talk. "There won't be any scientific papers read," they said. "This is a work conference."

Purpose of the parley is three-fold: To bring together those actively engaged in investigations in forest disease or forest pathology, to make participants familiar with problems which face adjacent forest regions, and to determine the policies, techniques and methods of approach developed in different regions.

Guest speakers will be Dr. L. M. Hutchins, head of the U.S. division of forest pathology, and Dr. J. E. Bier, associate chief of the Canadian division of forest biology and head of forest pathology for Canada.

Percy Rayment, 4039 Blenkinsop Road, secretary-treasurer of the Victoria District Trades and Labor Council (AFL-TLC) and Vancouver Island representative for the Provincial Trades Union Congress, announced today he will be a candidate for Saanich council.

Mr. Rayment is a carpenter by trade, and a newcomer in municipal politics.

He is the sixth candidate seeking election to one of the four council seats. Other candidates are Councilors Roy H. Wooten and Leslie Passmore, Robert J. Fleming, Harold Todd and Stuart W. Brock.

Women of Japan Plod Open Road To Emancipation

Route Still Uphill, Journalist Claims

The door is now wide open for almost any career Japanese women and girls may choose to follow, Miss Elizabeth Forbes, Times women's editor, told members of the Women's Canadian Club on Wednesday afternoon at the Sirocco.

The speaker, who has just returned from a seven-week trip to Japan, interviewed and talked to many Japanese women, and she found everywhere signs of a definite advancement toward freedom and independence.

"The new constitution that came into effect in Japan after the war gave women equal rights with men," the speaker pointed out, "and it also gave them the vote."

"But you must remember that under the old feudal system Japanese women were disciplined to three absolute obediences, to a father, then a husband, and finally a son. These stern feudal precepts were pounded into their heads over the centuries."

"It will take more than a few words on a scrap of paper—more likely years of striving and some heartbreak to bring them the complete independence they wish."

MOVEMENT NEW

First movement among Japanese women to break the bonds of the feudal system came in the latter part of the 19th century and resulted in the government sanctioning establishment of several women's colleges for higher learning. A group of young women also formed the Blue Stocking Group, a "literary" society loud in its demands for the emancipation of women.

Second phase was during the financial panic that came after the First World War and again in the great earthquake and fire of 1923. Through necessity, women and girls began to work outside the home, to wear western clothes and to bob their hair.

In the Second World War Japanese women got a bigger taste of freedom in civilian and service work. When the American occupation came they found good positions in banks, transportation and government offices, positions many of them still hold today.

HILLS HURLS HARD WORDS AT SOCREDS

'Crackpots and Demagogues,' His Label

B.C.'s Social Credit government has the "queerest collection of crackpots and demagogues it's ever been my misfortune to see," Rev. William Hills of St. George's Anglican Church, Cadboro Bay, told a Laurier Club meeting Wednesday night.

"They're got to be stopped," the former navy padre said. "I hate demagogues."

He said he sees the Social Credit movement, "and it is a movement," not merely as something which threatens the economic foundation of our country "but as the platform for demagogic rule."

"Victoria has the opportunity, by electing Mr. Gregory, to arrest these forces of fanaticism, sectarianism and reactionism upon which Social Credit marched to power," Rev. Hills said.

Social Credit, he added, is the sort of "fanaticism on which dictators march into power."

Social Credit feasts on the credulity and apathy of the people, he stated.

"I see in a time of delirium a threat to our way of life from these people. Social Credit is

HOTELMEN DETERMINED 10c BEER WILL STAY

VANCOUVER (CP)—Neither spiralling costs nor B.C.'s new legislation will change the 10-cent glass of beer.

This assurance was given Wednesday by J. E. Bengert, president of the B.C. Hoteliers' Association, now meeting in Vancouver, who told delegates that 10 cents a glass is a "fair and established price" for the working man's drink.

"While the industry is genuinely in need of some relief due to spiralling costs over many past years, hotelmen are firm in the belief that the 10-cent glass of beer should remain."

Red Concession Raises Hopes for Peace Talk

Communists Agree to Neutrals at Parley In Observer Role; PW Talks Called Off

From UP and AP Dispatches

PANMUNJOM—The Communists said today they want neutral countries seated at the Korean peace conference only as observers. United States envoy Arthur Dean said the proposal "could offer a very fruitful basis for further negotiations."

Dean indicated the North Korean and Chinese diplomats have made a "prepared concession" and now appear to be awaiting further instructions.

There were growing indications that a compromise may be reached on the thorny issue of inviting neutrals to the peace conference, "biggest issue to be settled at the preliminary peace talks here."

Meanwhile, explanations to Korean and Chinese war prisoners who have refused to go home remained at a standstill and there were no signs the Reds would resume the interviews.

Quebec After Unions Which Tolerate Reds

QUEBEC CITY (UP)—The National Union government in the Speech from the Throne today took a slap at Communism in labor unions in one of its first bills. The measure gives the Labor Board the right to "refuse or revoke, as the case may be, any group of employees or employers which tolerates among its organizers or officers one or more persons adhering to the Communist doctrine or to a Communist party or movement."

Moresby Blast Thunderbolt?

Meteorite Theory Now Suspect As Scene of Explosion Examined

By DON INGHAM, Times Reporter

An explosion on Moresby Island Tuesday night that was heard clearly at Shoal Harbor, 10 miles away, today was considered to have been caused by lightning.

Two families on the island had said earlier that the blast and following fire probably had been caused by a falling meteorite.

Times photographer Bill Halkett and myself, accompanied by Randle Mathews of Shoal Harbor, visited the scene and found fire still burning in a tree that had been flattened by the blast.

Mr. Mathews said in his opinion it had been felled by a lightning bolt.

"I've seen the same thing in these islands dozens of times," he said. "The distinctive spiral slash in the bark of a tree, running from top to bottom, is a sure sign of lightning. Also, the trees struck were the two highest in the vicinity."

Albert Elliott, who occupies the house just 200 yards from the site, pointed to a spot at the foot of a second tree growing from the same root as the fallen tree.

"If it was a meteorite, this is where it landed," he said in his north of England accent. "I've been tempted to dig down and see what I could find, but I understand some geologists will be investigating it shortly, so I'll leave it alone."

There was no sign of a crater. Meteorite or not, it provided an awesome experience for Mr. Elliott, his attractive wife, and three handsome youngsters, and Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Robertson.

"It was the 'awfullest' rumbling, crashing noise I've ever heard," the Durham-born emigrant of one year told us. "I heard lots of bombing during the war, but nothing like this. It seemed to go on crashing from at least 30 seconds."

Fire that broke out kept the Robertsons and Elliotts from learning immediately what had happened, although the blaze was at the edge of the island's cleared land.

Mrs. Robertson was reading a book on Erwin Rommel's African campaign when the blast added a startling bit of realism. Mr. Robertson owns the island and farm, and employs Mr. Elliott.

Weatherman William Mackie said that towering cumulus cloud had been reported at Patricia Bay Tuesday night. It was quite possible, he said, that a cumulo-nimbus cloud, or "thunderhead," could have been embedded in the cloud mass and caused a discharge.

Dr. Andrew McKellar, astronomer at the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory, said that on the basis of the Times investigation and an independent report, lightning is the most likely culprit.

"Most meteorites are cool when they reach the ground," he said, "while the iron meteorites are barely too hot to handle. Fire caused by a falling body at this time of year is most unlikely, considering the moist state of the soil and brush."

Chiang Kai-shek Loses Top Adviser In Policy Dispute

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—One of Chiang Kai-shek's top policy-makers quit Wednesday, reportedly as the result of a policy dispute.

An official government spokesman confirmed reports that former foreign minister Wang Shih Chieh had quit as Chiang's secretary-general, a post of great influence and prestige in the Chinese Nationalist government.

The spokesman, Shen Chang Huan, labelled as "utterly groundless" a report that Chiang's entire cabinet had quit. Shen himself is a cabinet minister.

IS CADDY A DADDY?

MANILA (AP)—There may be monsters at the bottom of the sea. Dr. Anton Brunn of the Zoologisk Museum, Copenhagen, told the Pacific Science Congress Wednesday night.

The Danish oceanographer who led the famed Palathea deep-sea expedition in 1950-52 said a five-foot-long eel larva was found.

"Find the parent of that," he said, "and one would have the closest possible equivalent of the legendary under-water sergents."

The Danish world expedition aboard the frigate Galathea included depths of the Philippine deep which runs east of the islands.

"'S a good thing that lightning struck a tree over t' Moresby Island, an' not in Beacon Hill Park. Th' mayor'd have bin mighty put out."

Man in th' know tells me George Gregory hez made a deal with Don Wilson. Gregory says if Wilson stops tellin' lies 'bout th' Lib'rals, he'll stop tellin' th' truth 'bout Wilson.

If Mossadegh thinks he's purty good at weepin', he should have been around the day M' Uncle Zeke got the bill fr' m' Aunt Slug's fur coat.

White Glowing Object Seen In English Sky

Tracked By Radar At 60,000 Feet

LONDON (AP)—A huge glowing object described as metallic has been tracked by radar, high over England twice this month, the War Office disclosed Wednesday night.

Official reports of the sightings were made by members of two army radar crews who estimated the height of the object as 60,000 feet.

The first report came from Sgt. Harry Waller and three other witnesses who were making a test of a radar set for the 256th Heavy Anti-Aircraft Regiment in southeast London November 3.

The report said the object was kept in sight for 40 minutes. Then it moved out of range.

"There was a strong echo on the screen, so I looked through the telescope and there it was just like a tennis ball," Waller told reporters. "It was dead white and completely circular. I couldn't see it with the naked eye."

"It couldn't have been a balloon. To get the kind of signal we got it must have been metallic. It must have been huge, because the signal was three or four times as large as that received from the biggest airliner."

A similar report was made Nov. 3 by P.O. T. S. Johnson and P.O. C. H. Smythe of the RAF. They were at 20,000 feet in a jet plane, they said, when the object passed far overhead at "tremendous speed."

An Air Ministry spokesman said every such report is investigated, "but we are not prepared to comment on individual reports."

Racing Car Hits Crowd, Six Killed

TEHUANTEPEC, Mexico (UP)—The Red Cross said that six persons were killed and an undetermined number were injured today when a race car driven by Bob Christie of Grant's Pass, Ore., hit them as they clustered around a previous wreck in the Pan-American auto race.

Spectators burst through the barriers and clustered around one wrecked car, the Red Cross said, despite efforts of police and soldiers to herd them to safety.

Christie, traveling at high speed, plowed into the crowd.

RANGOON (Reuters)—Burmese Communist rebels mined the Mandalay-Maymo train Tuesday night, killing 15 persons and injuring at least 23.

'I'M NOT AFRAID TO DIE'

Mossadegh Weeps, Threatens Fast

TEHRAN, Iran (UP)—Former Premier Mohammed Mossadegh bellowed today that he would fast unto death when the prosecutor at his treason trial ordered him to behave or face further confinement in a common jail cell.

"I'll go on a hunger strike until I die!" Mossadegh screamed. Then he wept and made sweeping motions with his hands.

The latest exchange between the 72-year-old ousted premier and Prosecutor Hossein Azemoudeh began when Azemoudeh complained that Mossadegh was "creating difficulties for us."

Azemoudeh said Mossadegh had worked himself into such frenzies that he has suffered mild heart attacks.

"This man (Mossadegh) may get heart failure and die—just as I myself became seriously ill Wednesday and thought I was about to pass into the next world—and then the blame will be put on us," the prosecutor said.

Mossadegh immediately interpreted the prosecutor's statement as a "threat against him."

"This executioner wants to kill me," Mossadegh shouted. "When an attempt was made on the Shah's life (Feb. 4, 1949) they killed the would-be assassin on the spot. Now they'll kill me and also kill my murderer and everything will be forgotten."

Azemoudeh told the military court he would order the frail defendant removed to an ordinary cell and "subject him to the usual prison discipline" if he continued to keep the court in a turmoil.

"I won't budge an inch from here," Mossadegh said. "You want to destroy me. I'm not afraid to die. If you remove me from here to a cell I won't eat a thing."

Hall, Heady Die Dec. 18

Gas Chamber Recommended By Jurymen

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UP)—Carl Austin Hall, 34 and Mrs. Bonnie Brown Heady must die for the kidnapping and murder of Bobby Greenlease.

Federal Judge Albert L. Reeves today sentenced the kidnapers to death in the Missouri poison gas chamber at Jefferson City, Dec. 18.

He passed sentence immediately after a federal court jury of 12 middle-aged men, nine of them fathers, had recommended the death penalty under the Lindbergh Kidnap Law after only 67 minutes of deliberation.

Hall and Mrs. Heady, who confessed to kidnapping and murdering the six-year-old child for a record $600,000 ransom Sept. 28, took the verdict with the same stoical calm they had displayed through the four-day trial.

The prisoners were called before the bar, Hall standing on the right of Judge Reeves and Mrs. Heady standing on his left. Their sleeves almost touched, but they looked up and straight at the judge, never at each other.

Judge Reeves, a somber, 79-year-old man in black robes, asked Hall whether he had anything to say.

Hall said, "No, sir," the first words audible to the court he has uttered since his trial started.

He asked Mrs. Heady the same thing and she formed the words, "No, sir," with her lips, but the words themselves could not be heard, except possibly by Hall.

"You, Carl Austin Hall," the judge said, "shall be transported by the U.S. marshal to Jefferson City (Mo.), the state capital, where the sentence of death shall be imposed upon you in the lethal gas chamber during the day of December 18, 1953."

"You, Bonnie Brown Heady," the judge said, "shall be transported by the U.S. marshal to Jefferson City, the state capital, where the sentence of death shall be imposed upon you in the lethal gas chamber during the day of December 18, 1953."

Other candidates could not be contacted but it is understood they will attend.

U.S. Makes Second Bid To Question Gouzenko

By THE UNITED PRESS

The state department announced in Washington today it will ask Canada for the second time to let congressional spy hunters question Igor Gouzenko about Soviet espionage in the United States.

State department press officer Henry Snydam said a note requesting that the former Russian code clerk be made available to the Senate internal security subcommittee will be delivered to the Canadian Embassy here this afternoon.

But in Ottawa, External Affairs Minister Lester B. Pearson said Canada will not permit U.S. Senate investigators to question the former Russian code clerk unless they have "some new information or new factors bearing on the case."

Pearson told the House of Commons that no new request from the U.S. state department to allow the Senate subcommittee on internal security to question Gouzenko had been received here, so far.

The state department spokesman indicated that this second request to Canada is an unusual diplomatic procedure.

He said that when the state department transmits a request for a second time to a government that had previously rejected it, "that in itself carries considerable weight."

Gouzenko, former code clerk in the Soviet Embassy at Ottawa, was star witness before a Canadian Royal Commission that investigated Russian atomic espionage in 1950.

Wheaton May Referee Free-for-All Debate

Acceptable Chairman Makes Possible Five-Party Meeting on Theatre Platform

George Wheaton, president of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, may act as chairman of a debate between all candidates in the Nov. 24 by-election at the Royal Theatre next Monday.

Attorney General Robert Bonner, who promised an impartial chairman for the debate on the government's record, has asked Mr. Wheaton to preside.

Mr. Wheaton was out of town this morning, but it is understood he has informed Mr. Bonner he cannot chair a meeting of any individual political party because of his position in the chamber.

But he will act as chairman if the joint invitation comes from all candidates.

Mr. Gregory had no comment this morning, but will make a statement soon. CCF candidate Alfred Mathews said he is agreeable to Mr. Wheaton.

Other candidates could not be contacted but it is understood they will attend.

A similar report was made Nov. 3 by F. O. T. S. Johnson and F. O. C. H. Smythe of the R.A.F. They were at 20,000 feet in a jet plane, they said, when the object passed far overhead at "tremendous speed."

An Air Ministry spokesman said every such report is investigated, "but we are not prepared to comment on individual reports."

The spokesman, Shen Chang Huan, labelled as "utterly groundless" a report that Chiang Kai-shek's cabinet had quit. When himself is a cabinet minister.

Wheaton May Referee Free-for-All Debate

Acceptable Chairman Makes Possible Five-Party Meeting on Theatre Platform

George Wheaton, president of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, may act as chairman of a debate between all candidates in the Nov. 24 by-election at the Royal Theatre next Monday.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner, who promised an impartial chairman for the debate on the government's record, has asked Mr. Wheaton to preside.

Mr. Wheaton was out of town this morning, but it is understood he has informed Mr. Bonner he cannot chair a meeting of any individual political party because of his position in the chamber.

But he will act as chairman of the joint invitation comes from all candidates.

Mr. Gregory had no comment this morning, but will make a statement soon. CCF candidate Alfred Mathews said he is agreeable to Mr. Wheaton. Other candidates could not be contacted but it is understood they will attend.

The Liberal candidate said earlier in the week he will take part in the debate at the Royal Theatre if Mr. Wheaton assures him a fair hearing.

Hall, Heady Sentenced to Gas Chamber

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UP) Carl Austin Hall, 34 and Mrs. Bonnie Brown Heady must die for the kidnapping and murder of Bobby Greenlease.

Federal Judge Albert L. Reeves today sentenced the kidnapers to death in the Missouri poison gas chamber at Jefferson City, Dec. 18.

He passed sentence immediately after a federal court jury of 12 middle-aged men, nine of them fathers, had recommended the death penalty under the Lindbergh Kidnap Law after only 67 minutes of deliberation.

Hall and Mrs. Heady, who confessed to kidnapping and murdering the six-year-old child for a record $600,000 ransom Sept. 28, took the verdict with the same stoical calm they had displayed through the four-day trial.

The prisoners were called before the bar, Hall standing on the right of Judge Reeves and Mrs. Heady standing on his left. Their sleeves almost touched, but they looked up and straight at the judge, never at each other.

Judge Reeves, a somber, 79-year-old man in black robes, asked Hall whether he had anything to say.

Hall said, "No, sir," the first words audible to the court he has uttered since his trial started.

He asked Mrs. Heady the same thing and she formed the words, "No, sir," with her lips, but the words themselves could not be heard, except possibly by Hall.

"You, Carl Austin Hall," the judge said, "shall be transported by the U.S. marshal to Jefferson City (Mo.), the state capital, where the sentence of death shall be imposed upon you in the lethal gas chamber during the day of December 18, 1953."

"You, Bonnie Brown Heady," the judge said, "shall be transported by the U.S. marshal to Jefferson City, the state capital, where the sentence of death shall be imposed upon you in the lethal gas chamber during the day of December 18, 1953."

As soon as the judge completed his sentence, a woman employee of the U.S. marshal's office and a U.S. deputy marshal moved in and led them away.

Red Concession Raises Hopes for Peace Talk

COMMUNISTS AGREE TO NEUTRALS AT PARLEY IN OBSERVER ROLE; PW TALKS CALLED OFF

From UP and AP Dispatches

PANMUNJOM—The Communists said today they want neutral countries seated at the Korean peace conference only as observers. United States envoy Arthur Dean said the proposal "could offer a very fruitful basis for further negotiations."

Dean indicated the North Korean and Chinese diplomats have made a "prepared concession" and now appear to be awaiting further instructions.

There were growing indications that a compromise may be reached on the thorny issue of inviting neutrals to the peace talks here.

Meanwhile, explanations to Korean and Chinese war prisoners who have refused to go home remained at a standstill and there were no signs the Reds would resume the interviews.

HOTELMEN DETERMINED 10c BEER WILL STAY

VANCOUVER (CP)—Neither spiralling costs nor B.C.'s new legislation will change the 10-cent glass of beer.

This assurance was given Wednesday by J. E. Bengert, president of the B.C. Hotels Association, now meeting in Vancouver, who told delegates that 10 cents a glass is a "fair and established price" for the working man's drink.

"While the industry is genuinely in need of some relief due to spiralling costs over many past years, hotelmen are firm in the belief that the 10-cent glass of beer should remain."
